STRIKEBREAKERS QUIT THEIR JOBS AND LEAVE CITY

Roads Called Upon to Cease Violations of the Neutrality Agreement.

LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE HAS NOT MADE ANSWER

Strikers Declare This Road Must Remain Neutral or Face Strike — Understood Southern, A., B. &. A. and N., C. & St. L. Have Agreed to Give No Further Aid to Georgia.

Over half the strikebreakers of the Georgia railroad and the Atlanta Joint Terminals have quit, supposedly from influence brought upon them by the union men. The Georgia railroad is tied up tighter than ever, and not a train left Atlanta yesterday, nor arrived from Augusta.

Not a suggestion of any settlement of the strike was made by the mediator, Charles P. Neill, or by any of the labor union leaders in Atlanta Friday.

Practically all day the union officials, about 20 in number, were in session in the assembly room of the Piedmont hotel. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon they issued an ultimatum to the railroads, calling upon them to cease violation of the neutrality agreement or cause a strike on their lines.

Make Statement of Position.

During the afternoon the union officials were again in session for two hours, and announced that they were formulating a detailed statement in defense of the Georgia employees and the terminal men's strike. This statement, which will not be completed until Saturday, will fully explain their position to the public, say the leaders.

As the lines begin to be drawn more tightly, indications are that if the present strike upon the Georgia railroad spreads to any other line, it will be only to the Louisville and Nashville. This road controls the Georgia railroad, and it has leaked out that eighteen L. & N. employees from Nashville were sent to Atlanta to break the terminals' strike, and Friday threw up their jobs.

It is known that a settlement of the Atlanta Joint Terminals question cannot be reached, despite the efforts of Commissioner Charles P. Neill, until Vice President G. E. Evans, of the Louisville and Nashville, and above him, President Milton H. Smith, give the word. Those two men have the power to keep the Georgia strike unsettled. Evans is a member of the board of control of the terminals. The other two members are T. K. Scott and Charles A. Wickersham, presidents of the Georgia and the Atlanta and West Point. Telegrams flew fast Friday between Neill and Wickersham, in Atlanta, and Evans, in Louisville. Unanimous vote of the board of control of the Atlanta terminals is necessary to end the strike. The Louisville and Nashville controls the Georgia and dominates the joint terminals.

With the Louisville and Nashville thus holding the wires, labor leaders hurled their ultimatum Friday directly at that road.

Vice Presidents Gregg and Murdock, in command of the labor forces, declare their ultimatum is no bluff.

"We will fight the Louisville and Nashville to the last ditch," they and other leaders declare, "unless it stops aiding the Georgia road and the terminals by switching freight and by sending its employees down here as strikebreakers."

Neutrality Agreement Violated.

At the union conference in the Piedmont, evidence was presented to indicate that four roads had been violating the neutrality agreement by switching cars for the Atlanta Joint Terminals in the Atlanta yards.

Of these four three are said by labor leaders to have assured them within the last 24 hours that they would not aid the Atlanta Joint Terminals in the future—the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic, the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis and the Southern railways.

Only one is said to have failed thus far to promise neutrality, and that is the Louisville and Nashville, the road that runs the Georgia, and which, through its Georgia road holdings, controls a two-thirds interest in the Atlanta Joint Terminals.

Charles P. Neill, who is laboring manfully to bring about a settlement, was a busy man Friday. He arrived from Augusta in the forenoon and at once sought out an interview with Charles A. Wickersham, of the Terminals' board of control. With him he was closeted for over an hour, and then it is known that telegrams were sent to G. E. Evans, vice president of the L. & N., in Louisville, the third member of the board of control of the terminals.

Meets the Heads of Employees.

In the afternoon he met the other side—Vice Presidents Gregg, Murdock, Fitzpatrick, Sines and Clark, of the railway conductors and trainmen. Late in the night he was again in conference with T. A. Gregg and James Murdock, who are the big powers in the labor ranks, but no word was mentioned of any settlement having been reached which would end the strike and remove the impending danger of a gigantic struggle in the southland between labor and capital.

PERKINS PLANNED MOOSE PROGRAM

So Declares Governor Wilson in Speech at Canton.

Democratic Nominee Believes Colonel Roosevelt's Ideas on Trust Regulation Originated in Minds of Officials of the the Steel Trust.

Cleveland, Ohio, October 11.—Governor Woodrow Wilson, in discussing today his argument that "the thought of the leading men of the United States Steel corporation is behind the third party program with regard to the regulation of trusts," drew attention to what he termed "a very significant fact" that George W. Perkins "is himself back of the program."

The democratic nominee recalled the fact that Mr. Perkins had once "disclosed in investigations before congress his whole thought" about establishing industrial commissions to regulate monopoly.

The governor spoke at Canton, the home of McKinley, Orrville and Cleveland. Besides the attack in his speech on the trust plank of the progressive party, he paid tribute to the memory of President McKinley, declaring that just before he died he showed "symptoms of adjustment to the new age such as his successors have not exhibited," and foresaw the necessity of elasticity in the tariff and "reciprocal trade relations with the world."

"Indulge in Narrative."

"The regular republicans say they are opposed to monopoly," said the governor at Canton, "but when they come to speak of the methods of restraining it they chiefly indulge in a narrative of what they have already done which we know to have been ineffectual, and when the third party takes up this side of the difficulty what do they do? They propose to leave things as they are and subject them to supervision of an industrial commission, and we know what that industrial commission is expected to do.

"It is a very significant fact that Mr. George W. Perkins is himself back of this program, not because I would intimate any corrupt or improper influences, for I would not. Mr. Perkins has just as much right to his opinion as I have, but Mr. Perkins has disclosed his whole thought in investigations before congress, and on one occasion, for example, in testifying be-

HELD FOR DEATH OF HIS PARTNER

Arebach, Charged With Murder of Fisher, Killed on Hunting Trip.

Baldwin, Mich., October 11.—Oscar M. Arebach, a Chicago business man, was today bound over to stand trial on the charge of murdering his business partner, Henry W. Fisher, in the woods near here recently. Arebach claimed Fisher accidentally shot himself while hunting. Bail was fixed at $10,000.

The prosecution based its case principally upon the fact that Fisher and Arebach went partridge hunting with a high power rifle; that Arebach stood the gun against a shaky, burned stump, when a solid stump was close by; that the bullet which killed Fisher passed horizontally through his body at an elevation higher than the gun and that the jury, in numerous tests, had failed to cause the weapon to explode by imitating its fall in the manner described by the prisoner. Undertaker Weston, who has prepared Fisher's body for burial, and George Dufferin, at whose house Mrs. Fisher stayed twenty-four hours after the shooting, testified today that the widow showed little concern over her husband's death.

An employee of Fisher testified that upon one occasion the dead man had remarked sharply on a prolonged absence of Arebach and Mrs. Fisher on a berrying trip. It was shown Fisher's $200,000 life insurance policies were made payable to his widow and children.

TAX OF $3,150,000 ON INHERITANCE

Sum Is Paid by Astor Estate to New York State Comptroller.

Albany, N. Y., October 11.—A check for $3,150,000 was received today by State Comptroller Schmer in payment of the advance inheritance tax on the estate of the late Colonel John Jacob Astor, who perished on the Titanic.

The temporary tax was paid at this time in order to obtain a 5 per cent rebate allowed by law if the tax is paid within six months after the death of the decedent. This rebate is equivalent to $155,000. The temporary tax represents an estate valued at about $75,000,000, although the final tax will not be fixed until after the estate has been appraised.

The payment is the largest inheritance tax paid on a single estate since the enactment of the law twenty-seven years ago, and is nearly one-third as large as the entire tax collected during the fiscal year ending September 30. The preliminary tax on the estates of the other victims of the Titanic disaster, including those of the late Isador Straus and Benjamin Guggenheim, has not yet been paid. The executors have until October 15 to make the payment in order to benefit by the 5 per cent rebate.

SOX HAVE BUILT PLAN OF ATTACK AROUND JOE WOOD

They Show It and Have Been Playing Like It, Says McGraw.

WAGNER AND YERKES SAVED WOOD ON FOUR OCCASIONS

Wet Field Hurt Giants. Doyle'e Failure to Hit Has Been an Immeasurable Handicap—Murray Better Than Hooper—Giant's Pitcher for Today Is Not Announced.

BY JOHN J. McGRAW.
(Manager of New York Giants. Written Exclusively for Constitution.)

New York, October 11.—(Special.)—If we win tomorrow's game I still believe that we have an edge on the series. The Red Sox have built their whole plan of attack around Wood. They are putting it all up to him, and they show it and play like it.

I wish to take no credit from Wood, at the same time he did not pitch as well today as he did last Tuesday. I think he himself realized that he did not have the same speed, for he resorted far more frequently to the use of his curve ball. Another point in his favor was the dark day, but the thing that helped him most of all was the condition of the field.

Fielding Saved Wood.

It must have been plain to all that saw the game that only sensational fielding behind him saved Wood at several critical stages. Wagner made three great stops and Yerkes one that would have been impossible on dry ground or a faster diamond.

Wagner's plays on Merkle and Fletcher both came in the fifth inning and deprived us of at least one sure run and perhaps more. If these drives had gone as hits, as they would have done on a dry day, we would have

SUES BECAUSE DRINK CONTAINED DEAD MOUSE

Macon, Ga., October 11.—(Special.)—Alleging that he swallowed the contents of a bottle containing a soft drink in which was a partially decomposed mouse, and that he was ill for thirty days as a result, G. F. Stembridge today instituted suit against a local bottling company for $1,000 damages. He further alleges that his illness resulted in the loss of his crops, which he was unable to work.

$80,000 VERDICT AGAINST HATTERS

Under Anti-Trust Act Award Against Members of Union Will Reach $240,000.

Hartford, Conn., October 11.—A verdict of $80,000 and costs was awarded for the plaintiffs in the D. Loewe & Co., in Danbury, against members of the United Hatters' Union of North America in the United States district court tonight. Under the Sherman anti-trust law this award will be trebled, making the total amount $240,000.

It took the jury four hours to reach the decision, most of the time being spent in examining the expense account of the plaintiffs. The verdict is for the full amount sought.

This already famous case has been before the court for nine years, during which time it has gone to the United States court of appeals twice and once to the United States supreme court. In the first jury trial, three years ago, the award for the plaintiff was $222,000. Steps were begun tonight by the defense to appeal the case again.

Suit was brought in 1902 against 240 members of the United Hatters of North America residing in this state, and was based upon the allegation that a conspiracy existed to injure the business of the plaintiff who is a soft hat manufacturer because he declined to unionize his factory. During both trials evidence was presented aiming to show that labor unions had instituted a boycott against the plaintiff's business.

The American Federation of Labor stood behind the defendants and the Anti-boycott Society of America was behind the plaintiffs, so the litigation developed into a legal battle between these two bodies.

During the recent trial President Samuel Gompers, of the Federation of Labor; John Mitchell, Frank Morrison and other labor leaders were called as witnesses by the defense. They all testified that no boycott had been declared against the plaintiff's products.

In his charge to the jury Judge Martin pointed out that the action was based on the Sherman anti-trust act, and declared that if the jurors found there had been a plot to boycott the plaintiff's trade in other states, to influence the company to unionize their factories and such boycotting actually was resorted to, then the plaintiff was entitled to such damage as had been suffered in the execution of the plot.

PRETTY LITTLE GIRL IS INJURED IN SAVING LIFE OF HER FATHER

Bertha Oyama Allen and her father, C. F. Allen, whom she saved from death under an auto on Friday afternoon.

Bertha Allen Hurt While Dragging Father From Before Speeding Auto.

Leaping directly in front of a speeding automobile and bowling her father from its path, 7-year-old Bertha Oyama Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Allen, of 119 Cherokee avenue, was knocked down and painfully injured by a runaway horse and buggy late yesterday afternoon at Edgewood avenue and Butler street.

Her father, a city policeman, was also injured by the flying team. His left leg was run over by the buggy wheels. He was removed to the residence, and will be confined to bed for several days. The child heroine's injuries were not sufficient to place her in bed, but were serious enough to cause her to remain indoors for quite a while.

Horse Becomes Frightened.

The runaway team was driven by R. O. Bell, choir leader of the Central Baptist church, and a son of Van Bell, the prominnt evangelist, who lives at 242 Moreland avenue. The runaway was caused by a disarrangement of the reins and harness, and the animal became frightened by speeding automobiles.

Mr. Allen and Bertha were returning home Friday afternoon from Grady hospital, where the daughter had been receiving treatment for infantile paralysis.

At Butler street and Edgewood avenue they stopped to wait for a car. Traffic at this point was considerably crowded with automobiles and homegoing vehicles bound for Inman Park and the east side suburbs. As the trolley approached Mr. Allen and Bertha stepped into the street to board it. A speeding automobile coming from uptown was seen first by the child. Dodging other cars and vehicles, the driver of the machine sped on, seemingly unaware of the peril of the policeman and girl in the auto's path.

Driver Is Powerless.

At the same moment the horse being driven by Mr. Bell in the same direction, became frightened at a passing car, and when the reins and harness became disarranged the driver was powerless to guide or check the animal. The horse dashed beside the automobile that endangered the lives of the two pedestrians in its course.

While her father's attention was attracted to the oncoming trolley, Bertha realized his peril and with a superhuman tug, bowled him out of the path of the speeding automobile as it sped by them. The frightened horse careened into the center of the street, struck the policeman and girl, and was stopped several yards further down the street.

Mr. Allen's right leg was run over by the buggy's wheels. It is probable the knee is fractured, and he was painfully bruised. Had he been struck by the automobile nothing short of a miracle would have saved his life. The rear wheel of the buggy struck the girl and knocked her into the car tracks. For awhile she was unable to walk, and passersby carried her into a drug store. She recovered shortly, however, and accompanied her father home.

PENSION LEADS TO HIS ARREST

After Forty Years of Freedom Freeman Long Must Face Murder Charge.

Vowing when a mere boy of 9 to overtake the slayer of his father and bring him to justice, William Berry, of Alabama, yesterday left Atlanta for his home, having in his custody the man for whom he had searched for 40 years.

The story of how Freeman Long, colored, who is being taken back to Alabama to stand trial for his life for the second time, escaped from jail, came to Georgia and killed his second man, served nineteen years in the Dade county coal mintes, and was finally pardoned, only to reveal his hiding place through an application for a federal pension, makes one of the most dramatic stories that has recently come to the attention of the officials at the state capitol.

Long betrayed himself to the man who has been on the lookout for his trail for forty years, through an application for a pension as a soldier in the union armies. He had to give his real name and in this way the news got back to Elmore county and to William Berry.

Sentenced to Hang.

In 1872 Long killed a John A. Berry in Elmore county, Ala., and while in jail awaiting trial on the charge of murder, escaped and completely disappeared. A few years afterwards Jim Thomas turned up in Campbell county, and shortly afterward became involved in a difficulty with Lindsay Weaver, another negro, and killed him. He was tried before Judge Sam Harris and sentenced to hang.

Without ever confessing to either crime, Long waited until the day before that set for his execution, when an extraordinary motion for a new trial was made by his attorneys, and the case went to the supreme court. The court, however, reaffirmed the sentence of the trial court.

Through clever appeals, the attorneys for Long secured a commutation of his sentence at the hands of Governor Henry McDaniel, and Long was sent to the Dade county coal mines for life. He served in the mines for nineteen years as Jim Thomas, and never revealed his secret.

Secures a Pardon.

Learning one day from a fellow convict from Campbell county, that H. A. Richardson, his former employee, was still living, Long wrote to Mr. Richardson and enlisted his support. In connection with C. S. Reid, brother of the solicitor general, who had secured Long's conviction—now judge of Atlanta's city court—a movement was put on foot to secure a pardon for Long and finally one was obtained from Governor Alan D. Candler.

Then came the slip that proved Long's undoing and led to his final apprehension for the crime of forty years ago. He made application for a pension from the United States government because of his services as a union soldier in the civil war, under his real name.

William Berry learned of the news and his vow to retake the slayer of his father again fired him with the determination to see delayed justice done. He called on Governor Jelks, and secured a requisition upon the governor of Georgia for Long, now in his 68th year. The requisition was granted by Governor Brown.

EVEN BEQUEST OF $5,000 FAILED TO RETAIN COOK

New York, October 11.—Even the promise of a bequest of $5,000 in the will of Henry C. Hurlburt, a paper manufacturer, who died April 24, failed to solve the servant problem in his home. Mr. Hurlburt promised his cook $5,000 in his will, if she would continue in his employ until his death.

Mr. Hurlburt made the provision in his will for the cook, but his executors now refuse to pay the bequest because she left the employ of the Hurlburt family before the death of Mr. Hurlburt.

TWO ARE DROWNED FROM A SUBMARINE

G. A. Schroeder and T. J. Turbett Swept Overboard When Craft Runs Aground.

Watsonville, Cal., October 11.—G. A. Schroeder and T. J. Turbett, seamen on board the United States submarine F-1, were drowned today when a great wave swept over the little craft when the latter went aground near Port Watsonville. The extent of the damage to the submarine has not been determined. Low tide left it upright in the sand in three feet of water.

The F-1 is holder of the world's record for submarine diving, having gone down 283 feet in San Francisco bay September 5, 1912. She was christened the Carp and was renamed November 17, 1911. She was in command of Lieutenant James B. Howell.

Schroeder and Turbett were on watch at daybreak with a third seaman when a rising sea tore the submarine from its moorings to a buoy. Before the seamen could get control of the steering gear the deck was engulfed in a wave and Schroeder and Turbett were carried overboard. The third seaman saved himself by grabbing hold of the railing. Turbett's body was washed ashore. Schoeder's body has not been recovered.

The remaining thirteen men of the crew worked all night to save the boat from being beached. When it was seen that the vessel was being driven inward she was abandoned and a few minutes later rammed her into the sand. There is now about three feet of water in her hold, but she is believed to be seaworthy.

HINTS OF CORRUPTION IN BRITISH GOVERNMENT

London, October 11.—A heated debate on the British government contract with the Marconi Wireless company for the establishment of an imperial wireless service took place today in the house of commons.

Attorney General Sir Rufus Isaacs, postmaster general; Herbert Samules and Chancelor of the Exchequer David Lloyd George, denied emphatically that they had profited by the government contract with Marconi.

Several newspapers had demanded an investigation and had strongly hinted that corruption underlay the remarkable rise in the price of Marconi shares from fifteen shillings ($3) to nine pounds ($45) before the public knew of the agreement.

Several members of parliament attacked the government for making a contract without giving other wireless systems a chance to bid for it.

A committee has been appointed to investigate the matter.

WITNESS REPEATS BECKER'S THREAT

Luban Declares He Heard Officer Threaten Rosenthal.

Mysterious Witness, Found in Newark Jail, Also Identifies "Gyp the Blood" and "Lefty Louis" as the Gambler's Slayers.

New York, October 11.—The first testimony implicating Charles Becker in the murder of Herman Rosenthal was given at today's session of the trial of the former police officer accused of instigating the murder of the gambler. It was testified by Maurice Luban, a hanger-on of the underworld, that Becker had said to Jack Rose about three weeks before the murder, "If that —— Rosenthal is not cracked, I will crack him myself."

Luban, who also was an eye-witness of the murder, identified in court today "Gyp the Blood" and "Lefty Louis" as two of the men who fired the shots that killed Rosenthal, and William Shapiro as the driver of the murder car. "Gyp" and "Lefty" he had known for more than a year, he said, and he also swore "Dago" Frank was likewise an acquaintance, and was in the group when the shots were fired. He knew Rosenthal and had seen Becker. He proved such a strong witness for the state that John F. McIntyre, chief counsel for the defendant, spent two hours and a half trying to break down his testimony.

Found in Newark Jail.

Luban was only discovered by District Attorney Whitman a day or two ago. He was found with his brother Jacob, held in jail in Newark on a forgery charge. The brothers claimed to have been "framed up" by somebody. The New York prosecutor procured their release on parole and, according to Maurice, the witness, promised "to help them in every way if they would prove their frame-up." On the stand Luban said he heard Becker utter his alleged death threat against Rosenthal in the steam room of the Fafayette baths, and that he stood within two or three feet of the police officer at the time. He did not know Becker well, he conceded, but had seen him in a gambling house on Allen street.

"How did you know it was Becker you saw in this gambling house?" asked Mr. McIntyre.

"Because I asked. I thought it was strange that a man of his appearance should be in such a place," rejoined the witness.

He added that Becker was talking at the time with "Denny Sly Fox," an underworld character, who is expected to be a witness in the trial.

He Identifies Gangsters.

Luban's identification of the gunmen was made without hesitation. When they were brought in for his inspection it was their third appearance in the courtroom during the day. Giovanni Stanich, another witness, had identified "Whitey" Louis and they had been lined up also before Thomas Ryan, a chauffeur, who declined, in a frightened manner, to identify any of them, although he, too, had seen them.

The gunmen, on their third appearance, made a protest. "We don't object to being identified, but we think we ought to have a chance like everybody else to be lined up with more men," said "Lefty Louis." "We want this thing cleared up, but we want a square deal."

The testimony of Luban as to how the shooting was done closely corroborated stories told by other witnesses. He said he had gone to the Metropole with a woman he knew as Annie, who also had seen the shooting.

Mr. McIntyre dwelt long upon the fact that Luban had been in jail on a forgery charge, and in other ways attacked the character of the witness.

"Isn't it a fact?" shouted the attorney, "that you and your brother offered to come over here and testify for Becker if he would get you out on bail?"

"I did not; I don't know about my brother," said the witness.

His Brother Subpoenaed.

Although the lawyer produced letters purporting to have been written to him by the brothers, the witness stoutly denied he had made any such overtures. He had seen Jack Rose in the district attorney's office yesterday, he said, and Rose had told him "to tell the truth and tell all you know."

The defense today subpoenaed the witness' brother and demanded that the court direct the district attorney to keep him within jurisdiction until he could be called. This the court refused to do, but instructed Luban not to talk with his brother in the meantime.

Jack Rose, the state's most important witness, largely upon whose testimony before the grand jury Becker's indictment was based, was called to the stand, the last witness of the day, but did not testify.

Justice Goff adjourned court when he was informed by counsel that it would take at least five hours to complete Rose's examination.

Witness From London.

London, October 11.—Thomas Coupe, who saw Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, shot down and killed by gunmen in New York city early on the morning of July 16 last, will sail for New York tomorrow on the steamer Mauretania to testify at the trial of former Police Lieutenant Charles Becker. He will be accompanied by William DeFord, an assistant district attorney of New York county. Coupe tonight gave the above information to the Associated Press. He said he felt it was his duty to return and testify at the Becker trial. He added that he had been officially assured as to his personal safety by the American and British authorities.

Heads Spiritualists.

Dallas, Texas, October 11.—George B. Warner, Chicago, was re-elected president of the National Spiritualists association, today, at the conclusion sessions of the organization here today. Chicago was selected for the next meeting place.

TRADES GO OUT IN SYMPATHY WITH CAR MEN

Probably 2,500 Union Laborers Will Be Idle by Saturday in Augusta.

TROOPS CALLED OUT AT REQUEST OF MAYOR

Situation Said to Be Result of Merchants Asking People to Ride on Streets Cars. Conditions Are Very Serious. Many More Men May Quit Work Saturday.

Augusta, Ga., October 11.—The Augusta Federation of Trades, at a meeting attended only by bona fide delegates and which lasted until midnight, indorsed the action of the organizations of carpenters, tinners, painters, sheet metal workers and cabinetmakers at the Perkins plant in going out in a sympathetic strike today.

No general strike was ordered, as had been feared, but the announcement was made by the secretary after the meeting that the federation will hold another meeting the first of next week, when replies from all other "locals" will be opened to determine what stand they take on a general sympathetic strike order. Of the seventeen "locals" affiliated he announces that all those who have not gone out and whose national organization permits it stand ready to strike "at a moment's notice."

At a business men's meeting in the chamber of commerce for conference with the heads of labor organizations a plan was suggested and accepted whereby an arbitration board of five will be named tomorrow morning to take in charge and offer to settle the entire strike situation. The labor men have entered into this understanding.

Colonel M. J. O'Leary arrived tonight from Savannah on the same train with the Waynesboro infantry company. He says he sees no need for more military companies in the city and is not going to call for more. It is his purpose to make suggestion to Mayor Barrett tomorrow morning of drastic steps to settle the strike and if the mayor does not see fit to act the military branch will take over the situation then and handle it.

Brown Orders Troops.

At the request of Mayor Thomas Barrett, Jr., Governor Brown has ordered three companies of infantry and one troop of cavalry to reinforce the one company now on duty in Augusta.

The call for more troops was made following the announcement that a general sympathetic strike of unions affiliated with the local Federation of Trades was expected tonight.

The troops ordered on duty here are companies A, B and D, First regiment infantry, National Guard of Georgia, and troop K, of the Second cavalry (the Richmond Hussars). Company D has been ordered here from Waynesboro. Companies A and B are local organizations.

Situation Is Critical.

Carpenters and cabinetmakers at the Perkins Manufacturing company, which is being operated with United States Marshal White as receiver, are out on strike.

The situation was further agitated this afternoon by a strikebreaking motorman by the name of H. Clifton, who says he is a southerner, exchanging revolver fire with Deputy Sheriff Albert Clark in Monte Sano, from a car on which several ladies were riding. Clifton says Clark cursed him and made an effort to pull his gun first, when the motorman replied with epithet. Neither of the men were wounded, but Clifton has been arrested and is in jail.

The report that the Georgia Iron Works and Lombard Machine Works are out is not true, though it is not at all probable that they will be out before tomorrow morning.

The strike is the result of the action of the merchants yesterday afternoon in advising the people to ride on the street cars.

The carpenters quit this morning, as did the tinners, and between 400 and 500 men are already out of work. Probably 2,500 union labor men and an equal number of workmen of the various crafts who are not members of a union will be out by Saturday morning.

An attempt will be made, it is said, to get 5,000 cotton mill operatives out.

The merchants, worried because of the demoralized condition of affairs, yesterday afternoon passed a resolution to the effect that they would ride on the cars themselves and urged their friends to ride. The union labor men resented this action.

Mayor Barrett's Message.

"October 11, 1912.—To Governor Joseph M. Brown, Atlanta, Ga.:

"Following up our telegram of last night to Adjutant General Obear, I beg to advise that a general strike is threatened today in this city, three large unions having already quit work in a body in sympathy with the car men and the situation here is far more acute than at any time. I, therefore, urgently request that you direct General Obear to come to this city at once to get in direct touch with the situation in the event that more troops are needed to prevent serious outbreak tonight.

"To correct any false impression that may have been created upon you by orders, I beg to assure you that the police and county authorities are doing all in their power to cope with the situation, but must have the continued backing and even added strength of the military, if necessary, to prevent a probable outbreak that may involve great loss of life. We are having Georgia railroad train held in Atlanta to bring General Obear to Augusta if you assent to this request.

(Signed)

"THOMAS BARRETT, JR.,
"Mayor."

Mayor Is Indorsed.

Mayor Barrett's telegram asking for military reinforcements was followed by one sent by a special meeting of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association and other business men as follows:

"Augusta, Ga., October 11, 1912.—Hon. Joseph M. Brown, Governor, Atlanta, Ga.:

"At a meeting held today, to consider the action of Mayor Barrett in the present strike situation in Augusta, we, the undersigned, wish to go on record as approving and indorsing the mayor's action and to urge that you act favorably and promptly on the mayor's telegram to you of this date:

M'CORMICK DENIES CAMPAIGN DONATION

Chicago, October 11.—Cyrus H. McCormick, president of the International Harvester company, in response to testimony yesterday by Charles D. Hilles, chairman of the republican national committee, before the senate campaign fund investigating committee, that he assumed responsibility for a statement that Colonel Roosevelt's primary campaign had "cost the Harvester trust millions of dollars," today issued a statement denying the Harvester company had contributed anything to the Roosevelt fund.

The "Essener Hof," which is the name of the hotel at Essen, is owned by the daughter of Krupp, the cannon maker, who continues business at the old stand. This hotel indulges in hospitality on a grand scale as a "business booster." Here foreign envoys and officials from all parts of the world, who have a pull, are entertained by the Krupp factory, free of all charge. A highly paid chef presides over the cuisine and the wines are noted for their excellence. The hotel has fifty rooms.

TAFT HAS PLAN TO AID FARMER

Would Offer Credit at Reduced Rates.

More Farms and More Farmers Also Recommended by President in Letter to Governor of All the States. Many Other Subjects Are Touched.

Beverly, Mass., October 11.—Radical legislation in favor of the American farmer and consumer as a means of solving the question of the high cost of living was urged by President Taft today in a letter to the governors of all the states.

President Taft proposes to reduce the cost of foodstuffs on the American dinner table by reducing the cost to the farmer of the producing his crops. This would be done by establishing in the interest of the farmer a financial machine which would give him access to all the money centers of the world and afford him credit at greatly reduced rates and upon more advantageous terms than he now receives. The complete development of our agricultural resources which this would make possible, thinks President Taft, would go a long way toward settling the problem of the high cost of living.

"What this plan offers," writes President Taft, "is a means to secure this country greater productivity, at less cost, from the farms that are now under cultivation, and, above all, to give us more farms and more farmers."

The plan suggested is based upon the principles of agricultural co-operative credit now in use in practically every country in Europe. Uniform state legislation, in the opinion of President Taft, is essential to the successful adoption of this plan and he has invited the governors of all the states to a conference upon this subject at the time of the annual meeting of governors in Washington in December.

"Were not the interval so short," writes President Taft, "my conviction of the importance of this subject would impel me to invite you to a conference at a still earlier date."

President Taft bases his recommendation on reports submitted by the American diplomatic officers in Europe who have, since last March, been engaged in an investigation of this question and upon the special report of Ambassador Myron T. Herrick, who has made a study for years of the question of adopting co-operative credit in the United States.

Recommendations of Taft.

"A study of these reports," writes President Taft, "and of the recommendations of Ambassador Herrick, which I am sending you, convinces me of the adaptability to American conditions of the co-operative credit plan as set forth in the organization of the Raiffeisen banks of Germany. The establishment and conduct of such banks, however, are matters of state control. I suggest, also, the establishment of land-mortgage banks under state charters, and the formation of co-operative mortgage-bond societies along the lines of the Landschaften societies of Germany, provided that uniform state legislation can be secured to govern their organization and operation. As a later step, I favor the enactment of laws by congress permitting the organization of national land-mortgage banks, to be operated under strict government supervision with the power to guarantee and market the guaranteed debenture bonds of the state land-mortgage banks or co-operative societies. I recommend for your consideration the report and recommendations of Ambassador Herrick, now published by the department of state for general distribution.

"The twelve millions of farmers of the United States add each year to the national wealth $8,400,000,000. They are doing this on a borrowed capital of $6,040,000,000. On this sum they pay annually interest charges of $510,000,000. Counting commissions and renewal charges, the interest rate paid by the farmer of this country is averaged at 8½ per cent, as compared to a rate of 4½ to 3½ per cent paid by the farmer, for instance, of France or Germany.

"Again, the interest rate paid by the American farmer is considerably higher than that paid by our industrial corporations, railroads or municipalities. Yet, I think, it will be admitted that the security offered by the farmer in his farm lands is quite as sound as that offered by industrial corporations. Why, then, will not the investor furnish the farmer with money at as advantageous rates as he is willing to supply it to the industrial corporations? Obviously, the advantage enjoyed by the industrial corporation lies in the financial machinery at its command, which permits it to place its offer before the investor in a more attractive and more readily negotiable form. The farmer lacks this machinery, and lacking it, he suffers unreasonably. This is not theory.

"But the advantages to be gained by the adoption of this plan go beyond the direct saving in interest charges to the farmer. The great necessity which prompted the establishment and extension of this plan throughout Europe was that of checking the rapidly advancing increases in the cost of foodstuffs, brought about by the inevitable increase in consumption and the failure of the long-drained soil to afford a corresponding increase in production. That problem faces the people of this country today—not in so severe a form as it threatened the older countries of Europe, but still as a great and pressing economic problem.

Problems Met in Europe.

"In Europe this problem has been successfully met, first by reducing the cost to the farmer of producing his crops and, secondly, by increasing his production through the adoption of improved methods of cultivation. Both the federal and state governments in this country have done much to afford the farmers instruction in improved agricultural methods. But it still remains for us to reduce the cost of the farmer's production by affording him the necessary capital for the exploitation of his soil upon the most advantageous terms. He must be afforded the money necessary for him to adopt improved methods. It must be made profitable for him to place every acre of his ground under cultivation. This offers the consumer relief from the increasing cost of foodstuffs."

President Taft strongly deprecates any idea of establishing co-operative credit in the United States through the support of government subsidies.

"We must establish a credit system of, for and by the farmers of the United States," he writes. "The country enjoys today great prosperity, the factories are busy, the workingmen are employed, and everywhere the wheels of industry hum. The farmer shares in this general prosperity. The proposal which I make is not to subsidize the American farmer. Fortunately for the country, he does not need it, nor would he accept it."

President Taft warns the governors that in this plan, as in all financial schemes, there is room for harmful exploitation for personal gain.

"The most essential point to bear in mind is the need for the assumption by the federal and state governments of the responsibility for economically and honestly conducted institutions. Such assumption is the essential precedent for obtaining the confidence of the American as well as of the European investing public."

If this safeguard is given the farm-land banks, President Taft is convinced that he can secure the farmers a market for their mortgage loans, not only in all of the big money centers of this country, but also on the exchanges of Europe and thus afford the American farmer the capital necessary for the full exploitation of the entire agricultural resources of this country.

Court Visits Saloon.

Brunswick, Ga., October 11.—(Special.)—One of the most interesting liquor cases in Glynn county for some time was tried before Judge D. W. Krauss in the city court during the week. The defendant in the case was Will Foy, a negro, whose near beer saloon was raided several weeks ago and in his "stock" was found a thousand half pints of whisky. A precedent was established in liquor cases in this county when the entire court went to the saloon, several blocks from the courthouse where both witnesses for defense and prosecution gave testimony. The jury brought in a verdict of guilty and Foy was fined $500 or twelve months on the chaingang.

Its Worth.

J. P. Morgan, giving his opinion of a certain promissory note, said:

"It reminds me of a check that Jay Gould once received. His bookkeeper asked him if it was worth anything. 'Of course it's worth something,' Jay replied. 'Goldstein will tell you how much.' Goldstein was a dealer in waste paper."

CHURCH WILL TAKE CARE OF CHILDREN

Dr. MacArthur Makes Arrangements So That Mothers Can Attend Services.

A new form of institutional work at the Baptist Tabernacle has been organized. In making pastoral calls Dr. MacArthur has found that many mothers are prevented from attending church services because they have no one to care for their children during their absence from home. Plans, therefore, have been adopted to remove this difficulty. A large, sunny room, off the entrance to the first gallery, has been set aside for the accommodation of children during the hour of the morning service from 10:45 until 12:30, and experienced attendants have been secured who will give every attention to the children while their mothers are engaged in public worship.

In addition to the caring for babes, children somewhat older, but not old enough to attend the service, may also be brought to the Tabernacle, and they will be cared for by other attendants.

On Monday evening, October 14, at 7:45 o'clock, a meeting will be held in the Sunday school room of the Baptist Tabernacle for the purpose of organizing the Tabernacle Literary society. A course in English, literature and history will be the first lines of study.

UNCLE SAM HITS DYNAMITE TRAIL

Travels of McNamara Are Traced by His Alias, "J. D. Brice."

Indianapolis, Ind., October 11.—"J. D. Brice, Chicago," the name James B. McNamara used to disguise his intention to cause explosions on the Pacific coast, and particularly in Los Angeles, formed an important point in the testimony at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial today.

As tending to sustain its contention that the explosions were part of a conspiracy for the illegal interstate shipment of dynamite involving the 45 men now on trial, the government indicated that it would go thoroughly into the explosions in the west, possibly throwing light on the mysterious disappearance of F. A. Schmitt and David Caplan, accused as accomplices of McNamara. Caplan and Schmitt were indicted in Los Angeles county on a charge of murder, but they never were taken into custody. Government agents have received information that Caplan was killed.

Witnesses reading from hotel registers, testified concerning the movements of McNamara, Schmitt, Caplan and Olaf A. Tveitmoe, of San Francisco.

From the time he arrived in San Francisco August 19, 1910, until he left Los Angeles a few hours before the Los Angeles Times explosion, McNamara's whereabouts, with the exception of a few nights, were accounted for by the name "Brice" written on registers. It was this alias which John J. McNamara said his brother had used too often, as after the explosion "the authorities had a pretty good description of Brice."

Whether Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, was present at a certain labor union meeting held in St. Louis, Mo., in November, 1910, was asked by government attorneys in the "dynamite conspiracy" trial today.

Frank Schilling, clerk of a hotel in St. Louis, testified that the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers was holding its annual convention in St. Louis at the time. He named Frank M. Ryan, Chicago; Michael J. Young, Boston; F. J. McNulty, Newark, N. J.; M. B. Madden, Chicago, and Olaf A. Tveitmoe, San Francisco, as registered at the hotel.

The convention was held the month after the Los Angeles disaster.

"Was Mr. Gompers registered at the hotel at this time?" asked Attorney J. W. Noel.

"He was not registered, but he was around the hotel a good deal," answered the witness.

United States Senator Kern for the defense, objected.

"Mr. Gompers is not a defendant. He has nothing to do with the case."

"Nothing, other than it will be shown he had something to do with the defense of the conspirators in the state of California," replied Mr. Noel.

Judge A. B. Anderson ruled he at present saw no relevancy in the mention of Mr. Gompers' name, and if none appeared in future testimony he would so instruct the jury.

Pieces of exploded bombs, old tin cans, in which nitroglycerin had been carried, cartridges, fuses and magazine guns were put in readiness by the government today to be used as exhibits in the "dynamite conspiracy" trial.

Gathered from many sections of the country in the wake of Ortie E. McManigal and the McNamaras, they have been classified and are to be used as physical evidence in the government's charges of illegal interstate shipment of explosives.

Six hundred and twenty exhibits have been listed. They are to be presented to the jury one by one.

REBELS THREATEN U. S. RAILWAYMEN

Will Be Shot If Found Operating Trains in Mexico.

El Paso, October 11.—Rebels today warned officials of the Mexican Northwestern railroad not to attempt reconstructing the road and warning also has been issued that American railway men will be shot if found operating trains after October 15. Railway men testified thus before the senate committee here.

Mexico City, October 11.—Six American railway conductors who were taken prisoners recently at Sain Alto, in northern Zacatecas, would have been shot if Antonio Manoz, a rebel chief, had not made a timely appearance. The conductors' captors declared their belief that an American army had invaded Mexico and proposed to wreck vengeance on the prisoners.

As Munoz knew differently, he caused the proposed execution to be stopped.

One of the conductors is named McNabb. He is 60 years of age, and acted as engineer-in-charge. Another of them is named J. O'Connor.

Guadalajara, Mex., October 11.—When Miguel Guerrero, a rebel leader, attempted to break jail last night a detachment of federal cavalry halted a general break by killing two fleeing prisoners. Several soldiers were hurt.

Guerrero, who was captured at Tepic several months ago, has since been imprisoned here.

THE TRUTH

Atlanta, Ga., October 10, 1912.

The charge made by Mr. Woodward and his campaign committee that one-half of the Bond money, that is to say, $1,500,000, has been wasted, is so serious, especially coming from a man, and his committee, who has received the indorsement of more than four thousand two hundred of the voters of the City for Mayor, that it seems to us to merit a careful and detailed reply. This we hope to do in the following article:

This article is addressed to the unprejudiced and fair-minded Public of this City. If there are those who are so biased that they are not willing to receive the truth, then this article is not addressed to them.

We will take up the Waterworks as being the first in order. The first purchase of water pipe was made under the administration of Ex-Mayor Maddox, and amounts to fourteen thousand tons of pipe. This pipe was of various sizes, and the price paid was $20.56 per ton. Some was purchased afterward below $18 per ton. When we contrast this price with that paid by the Druid Hills Land Company, only a short time before, and remember that that Company paid $22.50 per ton, it will readily appear that there was no waste in our purchase of pipe. Mr. A. G. Candler is the principal owner of the Druid Hills Land Company, and in addition to being one of the ablest and most careful business men of the South, he is not giving any money to pipe manufacturers if he knows it.

The City had been for some twenty-odd years buying filters from the Continental Jewell Filtration Company, after a standard set of plans and specifications paying different prices, running as high as $4,666 per five hundred thousand gallons unit, which was the price paid for the last filters purchased prior to the Bond Issue. The Bond Commission and Water Board bought, under competition, from the same Company which had furnished the others, and to be built according to the same plans and specifications, twenty units of five hundred thousand gallons each, at $1,512 per unit, a saving of $3,154 per unit, or a total saving compared with former purchases of $63,080 on this purchase, which is some saving instead of a waste. $50,000 was provided in the Bond Ordinance for the installation of the new filters, with the expectation of adding twelve to sixteen additional units. We added twenty units and had over $5,000 left, and so we might go on through the whole list, but we content ourselves with saying that purchases were made and contracts let in this Department to the lowest bidder in every instance.

SEWERS.

The contracts for building Sewers, except where built by the County, have been let to the lowest bidder in each instance, after keen competition from the Contractors all over the Country. This is all that could be done by anybody. On these contracts there have been large savings from the estimates made by our Engineers. For instance, we cite $20,000 saved on the Loyd Street Relief Sewer, and enough saved on Proctor Creek Sewer to pay the cost of making that sewer a main trunk, full size, from its present terminus above Ashby Street to the A., B. & A. Railroad. The County is doing its part of the work for nothing, the City furnishing the material.

In this connection, the Bond Commission and Sewer Committee bought from the R. O. Campbell Coal Company 200,000 barrels of cement at 98c per barrel, this cement to be used by the County in the construction of the Proctor Creek Sewer and other trunk sewers. At the time this contract for cement was made the City was paying for cement on its regular sewer work, not done with Bond money, $1.15 per barrel. All this cement has not yet been delivered and the price is now and has been for some time $1.40 per barrel. Not much waste in this, was there?

SEWAGE DISPOSAL PLANTS.

The Sewage Disposal Plants are built, and being built under the Imhoff patents. Mr. Imhoff is a celebrated German Sanitary Engineer. His plans were adopted on the recommendation of Mr. Rudolph Herring, of New York, himself a celebrated Engineer in this and other lines. It may be said further that Mr. Imhoff is the most famous sanitary Engineer in the world, and his patent and plans, which we have adopted, are being used with the greatest success in Europe. He gave his plans to the City of Atlanta without charge of royalty, and these are his latest designs for Sewage Disposal work. The building of these works was left to the lowest bidder under the keenest competition open to all the world. What more could have been done? As to their efficiency only one plant is completed, Proctor Creek, and it is doing all that is claimed for it. What more could you ask?

SCHOOLS.

Architects for the schools were selected under competition, and with the advice of Mr. Morgan, of Morgan & Dillon, who was not a Competitor, and who is one of the leading Architects of this City, as the many buildings supervised by him will testify—the Third National Bank being his latest creation. The Architects selected drew the plans for the various buildings, which, by the way, are equal to any in the Country, and the contracts were let to the lowest bidder in each instance, except where even the lowest bid was cut in order to get within the amount appropriated, which was done in many cases. The City's money was spent for lots and buildings and not for grading and beautifying lots or building retaining walls or buying furniture. If the lots are unsightly, it is not the fault of the Bond Commission or the School Board; if the Auditoriums are not furnished, it is not the fault of either of these Bodies. There was no Bond money provided for beautifying the lots or furnishing the buildings.

There were some slight defects in some parts of the buildings. These have been remedied by the Contractors, where they were to blame, and without cost to the City, except in the case of Walker Street; here the penalty imposed on the Contractor was sufficient to cover these defects, and besides we expect to recover from the Bond Company the cost of these defects.

Now, as to whether the buildings are worth the money. Every Contractor and Architect knows that buildings are estimated as to their cost and value by the cost per cubic foot of contents and in no other way. Estimated on this basis, Walker Street School cost 7.3c per foot, Lee Street 7.5c per cubic foot, and the others a little more, ranging up to 9.5c per cubic foot.

School buildings of the same design and plan have recently been built in Cleveland, Chicago, Boston, Seattle, St. Louis and other Cities, the cost ranging from 15c to 22c per cubic foot; that is, they range in cost from $100,000 for an eight-grade school to $150,000 for a school the size of Walker and Lee Street Schools; whereas, ours cost from $40,000 for an eight-grade to $50,000 for a twelve-grade, like Walker and Lee. Was there any waste here? The Bond Companies who signed the Bonds of these Contractors, stated that they would not make 5 per cent on their contracts and that the City of Atlanta was getting this class of work cheaper than any City in the Country. A part of the difference in the cost of these buildings and buildings in other Cities may be accounted for by differences in wages, or in the fact that some of these buildings are fire-proof, while ours are not.

GRADY HOSPITAL.

The Grady Hospital Annex was designed by the same men who designed Ashby Street School, Hill Street School, Georgia Avenue School and Yonge Street Negro School, and built by the same Contractors who built Lee Street and English Avenue Schools. It is about the size of an eight-room School, but it is fire-proof, is as fine as a fiddle on the inside, and cost a little over $100,000. We had the money to build it that way. We had only enough money to build the kind of schools which we have. That is all there is to it.

CREMATORY.

We bought a large tract of land adjacent to Intrenchment Creek Disposal Plant, near Constitution, Georgia, for a Crematory Site, two hundred and forty-seven acres, paying $15,000 therefor. It has not been used. The City can sell it any day for the money. One member of the Bond Commission is willing, if the City will let him, to pay the City its money with legal interest and take the land. Is there any waste here?

DEPOSITS OF BOND MONEY.

Although it would have been perfectly legal to have done so, not one penny of the Bond Money was deposited in the American National Bank, while Mr. Maddox was Mayor.

There may have been some waste. It would be remarkable if there was none, for waste will happen in the best regulated business, but any waste of Bond money has been more than counterbalanced by the careful manner in which all of the contracts have been let and by savings on such contracts and in other ways.

In conclusion, the Bond Ordinance specified just how the Bond money in each Department should be expended. This Ordinance has been followed in every particular, and there has been no diversion of the money from one Department to another or from one piece of work to another. This statement can be verified by the Comptroller's books and the Bond Ordinance. These will show the amount of the appropriation for each piece of work and the money expended thereon. This work has been done, and is being done as fast as men and money can do it economically, and the money is not being wasted, and has not been wasted. We appeal to the judgment of all fair-minded citizens and especially experts in the lines mentioned in support of this statement. The expenditure of this money is being carefully supervised and honestly managed. There has been no graft in connection with it, and will be none.

THE RAILROADS' OPPORTUNITY.

"The new owners of the Seaboard," according to S. Davies Warfield, controlling spirit of that carrier, in an interview with The Constitution the other day, "mean to see to it that their road, like the great systems which opened up the fertile fields of the great west, shall be pointed out as the foremost in the development of the new south." Incidentally, what Mr. Warfield calls the "southernizing of the Seaboard" and its new developmental policy, was planned before and is independent of any recent so-called southern development organization.

The management of every large and small railroad traversing the south could do no better than to fashion its policy upon the broad and perceptive lines of the Warfield plan.

The winning of the west was, to a great extent, the work of the various carriers penetrating that section.

It is true that here and there they were aided by government subsidies and it is also true that more than one of them was built under labor conditions which could not today be duplicated.

Despite these obvious advantages, the foresight and the constructive genius of the men behind the roads were the instrumental factors in the equation of development.

From the first year since rail lines began to shoot westward of the Mississippi to the Pacific coast, the thought driving most of the men "higher up" on western systems has been the realization that the more they did to aid in the upbuilding of the west the greater would be their dividends, the wider their possibilities for expansion.

Acting upon that theory, they have, to this day, maintained a systematic campaign of publicity elaborating the resources and the promise of the land they serve.

The roads were aided by commercial organizations throughout the west, there is no doubt. But it is probable the initial impulse came from the carriers, and it rose, not in a philanthropic, but in an economic motive.

A decade and a half ago the southern railroads, along with the southern people, came out from under the last shadow of the penalty of war and reconstruction.

The national sectional prejudice that died of starvation about that period opened up the opportunity for unprecedented industrial expansion in the south, including, of course, the railroad.

After the war and up to the nineties, northern and foreign capital flowed in great volume into the west and began that wonderful transformation which has not yet ended.

They did not come into the south, first, because of unsettled conditions here; second, because the returns from the west were tremendous and assured; third, because the section had been, to an extent, libeled before civilization.

The ban in all three directions has now been lifted.

The time is ripe for the southern railroads to begin for the south the far-flung and comprehensive campaign for development sustained for the west these many years by the western railroads.

It is not, for the roads, a matter simply of obligation or of display of enterprise. As with their western brethren it comes, in the final analysis, to the economic motive.

Broadcasting the advantages of the south throughout the nation means an influx here not only of capital, but equally of the best class of American homeseekers.

Telling dissatisfied farmers elsewhere that they can buy lands here as rich as those they now occupy at half or a third the price, and live the year round in a splendid climate, will, if hammered persistently, finally bring those rich farmers to the south and gradually amalgamate them with our people and our institutions; of both of which they are undoubtedly a part.

The hand of opportunity and, in a way, of duty is knocking at the door of every southern railroad.

In the degree that they answer, they can help in anticipating the destiny of the vast territory they serve.

SOUND ADVICE FOR NEGROES.

Booker Washington gave the members of his race some sound advice recently, when he advised them to cease depending upon "odd and uncertain" jobs for a livelihood, but to get steadily down to farming and to other pursuits for which they are fitted.

Stressing the fact that the negro was approaching a crisis, Washington said:

> Now is the time—not in some far-off future, but now is the time—for us as a race to prove to the world that in a state of freedom we have the ability and the inclination to do our part in owning, developing, manufacturing and trading in the natural resources of our country. If we let these golden opportunities slip from us in this generation, I fear they will never come to us in a like degree again.

In the south, where, of course, the mass of the negroes reside and will probably continue to reside, there are endless opportunities for the negro—if he will take advantage of them. In order that he may do that, however, he must equip himself.

As The Constitution has heretofore contended, education for the negro in the south is at present a trifle top-heavy. It provides for the exceptionally brilliant or bright negro, who can qualify for theology, law or medicine—and there is little demand for these professions among the negro in the south, certainly not enough to justify the money spent in preparation.

But relatively little money and talent are being spent to prepare the negro for domestic service, for farming and for the other occupations for which he is pre-eminently fitted by nature, but which he is now neglecting wholesale.

In Atlanta, two or three schools are commendably setting the pace by keying their work to the needs and capabilities of the negro. Since the south's industrial and agricultural welfare is involved in aiding the negro to find himself, it is to the interest of the white leaders of this section to co-operate in the solution to a great extent along the lines indicated by Washington.

THE PUBLICITY OF GOOD ROADS.

Recently Governor B. T. Carroll, of Iowa, accompanied by Judge G. S. Robinson, of the supreme court of that state, visited Georgia for the specific purpose of studying the system of good roads here prevailing.

"We have heard a great deal of Georgia's fine roads," said Governor Carroll, "and we wish to see them and investigate the system by which the work is done."

Which is evidence that good roads pay not alone from the undoubted standpoint of increased land values and lower cost of living but, incidentally, from the angle of publicity.

Authorities from other commonwealths have many times, during the past two years, toured Georgia to study the workings of the highway system of this state.

They have spread the result of their findings far and wide.

It is inevitable, as The Constitution has previously pointed out, that the awakening to the issue of year-round highways in Georgia will, sooner or later, bring here the best class of American immigrants.

The county that maintains the best roads will profit most by such a development.

But when I found Ten Dollars tucked away
In a forgotten pocket—new and strange
Life seemed! High steak and turkey ruled the day;
But oh, the grim Trust-waiter kept the change!

The Fatal Autocar.

"He traded two mules and 20 acres of good land for an automobile," says The Whitsett Courier, "and since then he has had to sell out, look, stock and barrel, to settle damage suits caused by crippling pedestrians and killing much valuable cattle, and now there is a federal case against him for running over the United States postoffice. So far only the church steeple has escaped."

An Editor With a Strong Box.

The editor of The Harrisburg Register has a "strong box," which is probably a family relic. He writes:

"Some sneaking hound made his way into the Register office on Tuesday night and monkeyed with our strong box, but had his trouble for his pains. Any one who expects to find money in a printer's safe is a fool, and if this thing keeps up we are likely to lay for him and fill his measly hide full of lead."

Stole to Help Sick Husband.

Oneonta, N. Y., October 11.—After her arrest here on a charge of theft, a woman who described herself as Mrs. Edwin Hill, of Union Hill, N. J., told the police she had stolen in order to allow her husband who, she said, was in Franklin, Pa., to be treated in a tuberculosis sanitarium.

Gossip at the Capitol

Judge Fite Arrives Today.

Judge A. W. Fite will arrive in Atlanta today in response to the rule issued by the court of appeals directing him to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt because of alleged contemptuous and defamatory statements publicly made regarding the court.

The case grew out of the McCullough assault to rape case, appealed from Gordon county, and in which decisions made by Judge Fite were twice set aside by the higher court.

Judge Fite will be allowed to have counsel. The court will sit in judgment and decide both the facts and the punishment.

Little Hope for Sutton.

No action on the application of Charles Sutton for executive clemency will be taken by the prison commission for the present. Earnest efforts were made by the sisters of the wayward youth to have the commission recommend clemency, but so far their appeals have been unavailing. Sutton has served about twenty months of a four years' sentence imposed for attempted robbery and assault with intent to kill.

Ask Amendment of Charter.

The Georgia Railway and Electric company yesterday filed with the secretary of state a petition to amend its charter to permit the construction of one mile of track from College street, in Decatur, running in an easterly direction.

Execution Is Stayed.

Governor Brown yesterday stayed the execution of Jack Baldwin, a negro, who had been sentenced to hang at noon in Stewart county.

At the last moment his lawyers made an extraordinary motion for a new trial, which they were entitled to make, and Judge Z. A. Littlejohn agreed to sign a fast bill of exceptions that the supreme court might pass upon the case.

Upon receipt of this information the governor directed Major Perry to get the sheriff of Stewart county on the long-distance phone and notify him that Baldwin had been respited until the supreme court could pass upon the case.

"Some of these days the attorneys who wait until the last minute will find that the pardon came too late," said Major Perry feelingly. It is not a cheerful thought to have a man's life hanging on your ability to get telephonic communication in a minimum period of time.

POLICEMAN JACKSON INJURED IN COLLISION

R. E. Jackson, a county policeman, collided with a wagon yesterday afternoon on the Brown Mill road about a mile beyond the car line. He was thrown from his motorcycle and badly cut and bruised. Jackson was answering a call at the time, and in making fast time around a curve failed to see the wagon in time to avoid it. He was taken to his home at Lakewood Heights by Chief Zach Rowan, who went to his aid in his automobile.

MANY WITNESSES SAVED ICEMAN A HEAVY FINE

Four headquarters detectives, one councilman, two patrolmen, one station sergeant and three civilians appeared in police court yesterday afternoon to testify to the character of "The Iceman," J. M. Furr, of Woodward avenue, charged with insulting one of his patrons, Mrs. W. O. Wells, also of Woodward avenue.

Each witness declared under oath that the purveyor of coagulated liquid possessed a character absolutely beyond reproach, and that he had been delivering ice to their respective homes for the past five years.

Mrs. Wells testified, however, that on Thursday morning, when Furr brought his wares to her refrigerator on the back porch, he was very solicitous of her health and welfare.

"I'm feeling fine, thank you," she says she answered him.

"No wonder you should feel well—just look what chubby arms," she declares he said, after which he caressed her forearm and patted her cheeks, crimson with resentment.

She hurriedly notified the police and Motorcycle Policemen Wood and Jones arrested Furr, carrying him to police headquarters, where he gave $100 bond.

"Considering your irreproachable character, as exploited by this excellent array of witnesses," said Judge Broyles at Furr's trial, "I'll discount some of the fine and make it a total of $10.75. Call the next."

SOUTHERN WHOLESALERS HONOR ALANTA MAN

Richmond, Va., October 11.—(Special.)—R. H. Galloway, of Atlanta, is one of the five directors of the Southern Wholesale Dry Goods association which was granted a charter by the state corporation commission today. The officers are: W. J. D. Bell, of Lynchburg, Va., president; E. W. King, of Bristol, Tenn., first vice president, secretary and treasurer; A. T. Dosser, Knoxville, Tenn., second vice president. There is no capital stock, the purpose of the association being to promote better feeling in the wholesale dry goods business.

NEGRO CHAUFFEUR MAY DIE; FIVE ARE HURT

Americus, Ga., October 11.—(Special.) The negro chauffeur fatally injured and five joy riders slightly hurt, is the result of an automobile ride near Americus this morning.

Ferdinand Cohen, owner of the automobile, and a party of friends were returning from Albany, where they attended the circus. Eight miles from Americus the automobile jumped an embankment and turned around completely, throwing out several members of the party, all young men, none of them being seriously injured.

The negro chauffeur had both limbs broken, and may die of injuries sustained.

CELEBRATE THE 70TH ANNIVERSARY OF CHURCH

Interesting ceremonies will be held Sunday morning at St. James' Episcopal church in Marietta to mark the seventieth anniversary of the laying of the cornerstone.

Rev. Edward S. Doan, rector of the church, will deliver a historical address on "The Old St. James," and will tell of the past history and record of the institution, which is one of the oldest in this part of the country.

An invitation has been extended to all Atlantans who are interested in the church to attend the exercises, which promises to be of more than ordinary interest.

WEARING ATLANTAN'S CLOTHES GIRL IS CAUGHT BY THE POLICE

Savannah, Ga., October 11.—(Special.) Dressed in a suit of male attire of sufficient size to accommodate one several times her stature, Lella Dean, a girl who has been living on the east side in Savannah, attempted to escape today after, it is alleged, she had robbed a stranger who says he is R. O. Pickett, of Atlanta, of $68.

The girl used a pair of shears successfully on her hair a short time ago. With her dark hair cut in the "Buster Brown" style, she presented the appearance of being a boy of 18 years. But it was the size of the clothes which made her appear ridiculous. She succeeded in escaping from the city and was headed for the Charleston crossing on the Louisville road when overtaken by the police, following the report of the robbery at headquarters.

When Pickett finally awoke this morning in a restaurant, he found that only a vacant chair remained where his clothes had hung when he retired. He succeeded in borrowing a suit until he could obtain others. Seven miles from the city the girl was found enjoying the hospitality of a ruralist who had permitted her to ride with him in his wagon.

The girl was taken in charge and locked up. Pickett is also being held. He says he is a Mason. The girl admits that she took the clothes for the purpose of disguise to get out of the city. She admits also that she got $6, but declares that she knows nothing of $68 alleged to have been taken. She was released from jail only two days ago after having served sixty days from police court on a somewhat similar charge. She says that she was disguised to keep the police from recognizing her.

Pickett claims to represent an insurance company. He says he came here several days ago from Atlanta. He is fifty years of age.

WILL TELL SIGNIFICANCE OF CHINESE AWAKENING

The real significance of the Chinese awakening will be told Sunday morning by Rev. Lacy I. Moffett, in an address at the Central Presbyterian church.

Coming direct from China, where he has spent eight years of his life in religious and educational work among the people of that land, Mr. Moffett brings a message of exceptional interest to the American people, who are spending hundreds of thousands of dollars in missionary work to the Chinese every year.

Political conditions, as well as religious, will be discussed by Mr. Moffett. Before the Presbyterian conference at Montreat, N. C., he delivered an address last summer, carrying his message to hundreds of leading Presbyterian ministers from all parts of the country.

"A Message to the Voters of Atlanta" will be the subject of Dr. Dunbar Ogden's Sunday evening sermon at the Central Presbyterian.

J. W. CAMP INDICTED FOR KILLING COMRADE

J. W. Camp, the policeman who two weeks ago shot and killed his roommate, Officer S. A. Belding, in their apartments, 49½ Central avenue, was indicted on the charge of murder by the grand jury yesterday.

The claim is made by Camp that he and his brother officer quarreled over moving some furniture in their room, and that both reached for their weapons, lying on the bureau. The coroner's jury ordered Camp held for the grand jury, and he has been locked in the Tower since the shooting.

HORACE D. SMITH DIES AT PRIVATE SANITARIUM

Horace D. Smith, one of Atlanta's best-known and most highly valued business men, aged 61 years, died at a private sanitarium at noon Friday.

Mr. Smith was a native Georgian, born and reared at Valdosta. He came to Atlanta when a young man and began his business career by graduating at a business college.

He took his first position with the firm of H. T. Cox & Co., at Louisville, in East Tennessee.

Some two years later he married Miss Mamie Cox, and about three years after his marriage he came to Atlanta and made his home here during the remainder of his life.

On coming to Atlanta he engaged in the wholesale commission business and continued in this line during his many years' residence here.

Mr. Smith is survived by his wife and two daughters, Mrs. Lucy Smith Neal and Miss Ruby Smith.

JOYNER SURRENDERS AT FORT LOGAN, COLO.

News reached the city yesterday that Ralph Joyner, son of "Cap" W. R. Joyner, former mayor of Atlanta, and ex-chief of the fire department, had surrendered to federal authorities at the Fort Logan military post, from which he had deserted for three weeks.

Young Joyner, according to postal cards received by his Atlanta friends and relatives, did not consider the seriousness of his desertion from the army until rewards were delivered for his apprehension. Following the posting of bulletins announcing the sum offered for his capture, he voluntarily surrendered to authorities in command of Fort Logan.

HALF-CLOTHED WOMAN RUNS FROM SANITARIUM

Savannah, Ga., October 11.—(Special.)—Although Mrs. J. S. Beecher, the woman who was dragged half conscious from the Savannah river a few days ago, has repeatedly persisted that she is from Florida, it was learned positively by the Associated Charities today that she is from Pine Grove, Ga.

The woman, who is a dope fiend, made her second escape today from the Parkview sanitarium. She had practically no clothing on, and caused consternation on the streets. She went several blocks before she was caught. She was taken back to the sanitarium, dressed and allowed to go.

When Mrs. Beecher came to Savannah, she was accompanied by her mother. She came here to enter the hospital. Her mother, who accompanied her, disappeared the following day.

GARNER AIDS CRUSADE ON DRUG TRAFFICKING

W. H. Garner, 23-year-old youth of Scotdale, who has been addicted to the drug habit for ten years, the police believe they have a valuable instrument in waging a crusade against drug trafficking in Atlanta.

Garner already has given evidence which yesterday led to the binding over under $1,000 bond of Dr. William D. Roper, proprietor of Roper's Pharmacy, at Wall and North Pryor streets. Garner testified before Recorder Broyles that he had often secured cocaine from Dr. Roper, and that not since his first few purchases was he forced to secure the drug by prescription.

Garner was caught on Wednesday night by Policeman A. J. Bender. He was lurking in an alley on North Pryor street, and was in the act of "breezing" a palmful of the drug when apprehended.

Garner offered information to the detectives, which they think will result in many arrests of drug peddlers and druggists who traffic cocaine, hasha, morphine and similar drugs.

DIVORCE SUIT TRIALS COMPLETED FOR TERM

The trial of divorce cases before Judge W. D. Ellis, in the superior court, was finished yesterday with the granting of about twenty-five verdicts.

Many of the 118 suits set for this term of the court were withdrawn toward the latter part of the week on account of the reputation made by the jury under R. A. Gordon, foreman. This jury has been less lenient than any in a number of terms in regard to giving divorces, and plaintiffs withdrew their cases and awaited another term of court, hoping that the next jury might prove less exacting in passing on reasons for divorce.

Judge Ellis, in thanking the jury at the close of the session, expressed his opinion that it had been one of the most careful juries that he had ever had in divorce proceedings and made it a point to express his approval of the course they had followed.

DEDICATION OF TRINITY HAS BEEN POSTPONED

Dr. J. B. Robins announced yesterday that the dedication exercises of the new Trinity church have been postponed until October 27. The dedicatory sermon will be delivered by Bishop Warren A. Candler, and the ceremonies will be held in the new edifice.

M. K. & T. ROAD BUYS THE B. & G. N. STOCK

New York, October 11.—Announcement was made today that the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad company has purchased through R. C. Duff and J. M. West, of Houston, the entire capital stock of the Beaumont and Great Northern railroad company, which owns and operates a line of about 50 miles extending through the lumber district from Weldon to Livingston, Texas. It connects at Trinity with the "Orphan" branch of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas, and will immediately be extended to a connection with the main line.

HARVESTER TRUST SALES AMOUNT TO $108,033,595

Chicago, October 11.—Copies of the minutes of the executive committee of the International Harvester company from August 13, 1902, to October 23, 1906, were introduced in evidence by the government today in the suit for the dissolution of the alleged combination. The purpose was to show the methods of the corporation acquiring control of business competitors.

James King, assistant comptroller of the International Harvester company, said the total combined sales of the company for 1911 were $108,033,595.61.

Mr. King was requested to prepare a statement for the record showing the total sales, net profit and dividends paid for each year since the organization of the corporation.

KILLS SON AND SHOOTS HIS WIFE AND SISTER

Akron, Ohio, October 11.—John V. McDonald, a plumber, killed his 3-year-old son and then shot his wife and sister. Mrs. McDonald is believed to be fatally injured and the sister is in a serious condition.

McDonald was arrested wandering the street a few hours after the shooting.

MARINES IN NICARAGUA MAY SOON WITHDRAW

Washington, October 11.—United States marines and sailors now in Nicaragua can be withdrawn in about a month, according to a report from Rear Admiral Southerland to the navy department today.

The admiral is of the opinion that complete order will have been restored throughout the Central American republic in that time. He announced he was sending Colonel Pendleton and Majors McKelvey and Reid into various districts of the country to see that orders providing for government control are actually in force.

SHOT DOWN WHILE TIED TO SHERIFF'S BUGGY

Jena, La., October 11.—A startling development in connection with the disappearance last week of Nelson McManus, head of the logging firm of McManus Brothers, was the discovery by a coroner's jury that Doc Harp, supposed to have been killed yesterday by Tom McManus, brother of the missing man, is alive.

Harp, who is badly wounded, told the officers a sensational story. Instead of having been shot while trying to escape from a deputy sheriff who had arrested him in connection with the alleged murder of Nelson McManus, as Tom McManus declared yesterday, Harp said he was tied to Deputy Sheriff Swayze's buggy and Tom McManus and S. D. Clark, who were assisting the deputy, shot him several times against the appeals of Swayze. Harp declared he was shot three times and thrown into the woods as dead.

He later regained consciousness, he said, and dragged himself to his father's home.

Tom McManus is held in jail here to answer for the wounding of Harp.

Leland Walker, who yesterday confessed that he killed Nelson McManus and then, assisted by Harp, threw the logging man's body into a creek, stated today that his object was to get revenge because McManus, his employer, had upbraided him for driving the teams too hard. The body of McManus has not been recovered.

Royal Baking Powder

Absolutely Pure

Royal Baking Powder exceeds others in leavening power, in purity and wholesomeness, and is used generally in families, exclusively in the most celebrated hotels and restaurants, by the United States Army and Navy, and wherever the best and finest food is required. Teachers of cooking schools and lecturers upon culinary matters use and recommend the Royal.

Royal is the only baking powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar. It is admittedly the best and most healthful baking powder made.

JEROME MOORE MADE RECEIVER

Suit Filed in State Court Against National Assurance Company.

The National Assurance company, of 1113 Candler building, a co-operative life insurance company with about $3,000,000 in outside business in Georgia, was placed in the hands of a receiver yesterday afternoon by order of Judge George E. Bell, of the Fulton superior court. The action of the court followed receivership suits filed by Max Spiegel and M. Maisell, agents of the company.

Arrangements haxe been made whereby the policyholders in the company are to be protected through an agreement with the Cherokee Life Insurance company, of Rome, which will reinsure the National's business.

Judge R. B. Russell, formerly president of the company, has resigned, and the affairs of the company are in a badly disorganized condition, according to the statement of the plaintiffs. H. C. Conley, former vice president and general manager, is now at the head of the company's affairs.

Jerome Moore, of the firm of Evins, Spence & Moore, was named receiver by Judge Bell under a bond of $5,000. The date for a hearing is set for October 26. Attorney Moore has made bond and taken active control. Friday he secured orders from the court for the $5,000 deposit which the company had with the insurance commissioner of Georgia, and for $18,000 worth of certificates of deposit, which have been hypothecated with the Gate City Savings bank.

In the suit filed Spiegel seeks $3,470 for loans and commissions, and Maisell asks judgment for $800 advanced to meet the pay roll.

According to the receiver, the company's liabilities are $263,000 and its assets $75,000. Moore & Pomeroy, attorneys in the Atlanta National Bank building, filed the petition for the plaintiffs.

The company at present is controlled by H. C. Conley, former vice president and general manager, who succeeded Judge Russell upon his resignation; B. S. Perry, secretary and treasurer, and H. G. Schmidt, Jr., assistant treasurer. H. G. Schmidt, of the Guarantee Bank and Trust company, with the officers, constitutes the board of directors. Dr. J. R. Garner is medical director of the company.

DU BOSE LEAVES FOR HIS VACATION

In His Absence Firing Line Will Be Handled by Assistants.

W. T. Du Bose, editor of the "Du Bose Firing Line" in The Constitution, has left for his vacation and will be away from all thoughts of work for a short time.

In his absence the Firing Line will be handled by the assistants, trained under him, and the usual matters of interest will be found within its columns.

Mr. Du Bose, during the 20 months he has been in Atlanta, has conducted a field of journalism entirely new, and one which has received liberal cooperation from the wholesale houses and their representatives.

He has been highly praised for the manner in which he has handled various enterprises which have contributed to the growth and prosperity of Atlanta and the south.

James R. Little, of Dougherty-Little-Redwine company, voiced the sentiments of the wholesale men when he said: "Mr. Du Bose has done more for the wholesale business and for commercial travelers of Atlanta than any other man ever did in the history of the trade."

The southern merchants' convention last spring, at which 500 merchants gathered here, was one of the conceptions of Mr. Du Bose. The second convention and the show of Atlanta-made goods, which was held this fall was the outcome of that gathering and through the publicity given it by Mr. Du Bose, lived up to the most sanguine expectations of its promoters.

Another enterprise that Mr. Du Bose has given aid to is the Woodruff Tri-County fair, which is now being held at Winder. The success of this fair is credited largely to Mr. Du Bose's efforts.

ALLEGED BLACKLISTING BY WATCH CASE TRUST

Philadelphia, Pa., October 11.—Jobbers or retailers who failed to adhere to scheduled prices for products controlled by the Keystone Watch company were dropped from the company's approved list and no further goods delivered them, according to testimony at resumption of hearings in the government's suit here today.

Miss Lizzie Kenz, employed as a stenographer in the Chicago branch from 1903 to 1911, gave the testimony. She cited several instances in which jobbers were refused goods for disregarding the rule.

M. D. Hardy, managing director of a Boston firm of watch jobbers, related how his company was refused goods when they declined to agree to similar terms. This caused a decline in the Boston firm's dividend of from 16 to 6 per cent. Census figures were read to show the Keystone company controlled three-fourths of the watch case business in the United States. The defense will open its case here in about two weeks.

GIRLS WON'T RETRACT SORORITY PLEDGES

Chicago, October 11.—Mothers of suspended high school girls appeared before the board of education anti-sorority committee here yesterday and begged that the girls be not compelled to retract their sorority pledges, which they said were too solemn to be withdrawn at the behest of the board.

Mrs. Richard E. Sloane and Mrs. Lewis McPherson said that their daughters could not withdraw from Delta Kappa Phi because they had taken an oath as life members in solemn secret pledges signed in blood at midnight under circumstances calculated to fill a high school girl with awe.

12 STRIKEBREAKERS ARE ILL FROM POISON

New York, October 11.—Twelve strikebreaking bookbinders, housed in a building occupied by P. F. Collier & Son, publishers, where a strike is in progress, were taken ill last night shortly after they had eaten food furnished by a restaurant. Two of the men were taken to a hospital, their conditions being dangerous. The others were attended by ambulance surgeons and remained in the Collier building.

That some form of poison was given the men was the belief expressed by the police and physicians. Chemical analysis will be made, it was announced.

The per capita consumption of potatoes in this country at the last census was four bushels.

SIX JURORS SECURED FOR GRABOW TRIAL

Lake Charles, La., October 11.—One additional juror was secured today out of the special panel of 100 talesmen who appeared in court this morning for prospective service in the Grabow murder trial.

J. H. Martin, aged 50, a truck farmer and dairyman, was the juror selected today, making a total of six accepted since the opening of the trial Monday.

Another special panel of sixty-five was summoned to appear in court tomorrow. Twenty-four peremptory challenges have been made by the prosecution and twenty by the defense. A total of 340 talesmen have been examined.

It is now considered doubtful whether the jury will be completed Saturday.

BAD WRECK ON NEW YORK ELEVATED; MANY INJURED

New York, October 11.—Twenty-two passengers were injured early today in a rear-end collision of elevated trains at the 104th street station. The failure of the brakes on the second train is said to have caused the accident. The forward car of this train and the last car of the train in front were telescoped. Two of the injured will probably die.

One of the less seriously injured is a policeman, who was standing in the street below the station when the accident occurred. He was felled by wreckage, which dropped following the crash.

McCombs Recovers Health.

New York, October 11.—William F. McCombs, chairman of the democratic committee, who has been ill for two months, will take active charge of the campaign next Tuesday. Mr. McCombs has sent a personal contribution of $500 to William Sulzer's campaign fund.

"God Is in Our Midst"

Neither Blue Laws Nor Broken Hearts Wanted in Atlanta

Mr. Woodward is in the hands of God.

His controversy is with his Maker.

The stake is the children.

The issue "Woodwardism."

Jesus said:

"Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not, for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven."

Many of these were in Grady Hospital last year.

Thirteen of them were little girls, under ten years of age, who suffered from the disease which comes from the Houses, which were in our Midst.

Mr. Woodward's "unbendable will and determination" are bent upon bringing back the Houses.

With their owners, he fights against those who would save our girls.

Her trunk was brought to our office.

In its tray was her doll.

Can you not see her, day after day, nursing and playing with it, surrounded by empty beer and wine bottles amidst the odor of stale cigarette smoke in the tawdry finery of the House?

Thus she passed the too brief hours of daylight until night, and her owner's customers came for her.

Children and toys are in your home.

Laughing and playing the little ones went to school today.

Think then, of the meaning of "Woodwardism" and pray God to spare us!

For Mr. Woodward's "unbendable will and determination" are set upon assigning a district of our city for the unspeakable traffic under police protection and with your consent.

And those who wish to live again in Atlanta on the shame of women strive to fasten "Woodwardism" upon us.

They say:

"Men who are so foolish as to object to men selling and buying girls will certainly stop the street cars from running on Sunday, if Mr. Woodward is defeated."

They are mistaken.

"Blue-Laws" shall not come.

But "Woodwardism" must go.

It could only disgrace our City and break the hearts of more of our people.

Atlanta will have her children happy, not broken hearted.

It is truly a City "set upon a hill!"

And only light and love, joy and laughter should radiate from her bounds.

Ruining girls is not necessary for this.

Mr. Woodward does not believe so.

Yet the Houses must have inmates.

These must be fallen women.

To get them, girls must be betrayed.

Mr. Woodward has not thought.

Otherwise, his "unbendable will and determination" would be bent upon upholding Chief Beavers, instead of upon destroying him for putting an end to these places.

Mr. Woodward has forgotten that the traps which supply the Houses are set most often for the girls who labor.

Their bitter need is too well known to the hunters.

Their purity in the struggle for life is miraculous.

But now "Woodwardism" stands for their ruin.

Mr. Woodward does not intend this.

He has not considered.

There is more in the world than dollars, liquor, public office and hatred.

Mr. Woodward knows this.

He, like other men, at times, feels the touch of God.

His sixty-eight years tell the story of passing days and coming night.

While there is "light" God grant that Mr. Woodward himself, and not others, put an end to "Woodwardism."

Mr. Woodward is fighting against God.

Thousands are praying, and will pray.

His ultimate and lasting defeat is inevitable.

For God will make an end of "Woodwardism" in Atlanta.

PRESS ASSOCIATIONS MAKE UP DIFFERENCES

Washington, October 11.—The department of justice has abandoned any intention of taking action at this time on charges that the American Press association and the Western Newspaper union have violated the agreed decree recently entered at Chicago by Judge Kennesaw M. Landis, restraining these corporations from indulging in unfair competitive methods.

The allegations of violations preferred by each company against the other have been withdrawn, and, it is said, each has announced its intention of observing the decree. Officials of the department today declared that the government probably would make no further move unless there was evidence that the decree was being violated.

PRESIDENT COMPLETES 700-MILE AUTO TRIP

Beverly, Mass., October 11.—The president and Mrs. Taft and Miss Mabel Boardman got back to Beverly this afternoon from their six-day automobile trip through Massachusetts, Vermont and New Hampshire.

The president covered both Vermont and New Hampshire from end to end in the white house car that carried the party 700 miles. In spite of the fact that the miles were made through the Green mountains and the White mountains, there was not an accident to mar the trip and both the president and Mrs. Taft returned much refreshed.

President Taft started for New York tonight on the Mayflower to review the big American fleet next Monday and Tuesday. Mrs. Taft and Miss Helen Taft accompanied him. He will not return to Beverly until Thursday.

The Mayflower will not reach New York until Monday, for the president expects to spend tomorrow night and the greater part of Sunday at Woodshole, Mass., with W. Cameron Forbes, governor general of the Philippines, who is in the United States on a vacation.

LIPSCOMB HELPS GIVE SCHOLARSHIP

Georgia Man Offers to Be One of Ten to Give $100 to Tech.

An offer from a University of Georgia man to be one of ten men to give $100 toward a Tech scholarship was made to G. Holman Gardner, the associate registrar at the Tech, yesterday.

Rutherford Lipscomb, well-known young Atlanta insurance man, wrote that he was much interested in the effort of the Tech to help poor boys get a technical training and made this offer:

"As a business man I am interested in seeing your account of scholarships for worthy young men of small means. It occurs to me that you would greatly increase the usefulness of this admirable plan if you were to make these scholarships self-perpetuating.

"Would it not be better to have the young men who become the recipient of these scholarships to agree to return the amounts they have received in after life, so that some other young men might get a similar aid. By this plan the student would not only feel independent while in college, but he would feel under a peculiar obligation to pass on the good deed and assist others.

"I will be one of ten men to offer $100 to this most worthy cause, provided you get nine other persons interested. My offer is further conditioned that you get really worthy and deserving young men to your institution on these scholarships, men who really need the help and show promise of making good."

Mr. Gardner on Friday replied as follows:

"I want to thank you for your kind offer. I have already three other citizens who will co-operate with you in your generous offer, and sincerely trust that the other six men will come forward.

"I heartily agree with you that the scholarship should be self-perpetuating and that the recipients of these scholarships should return the money advanced to them later on in order to enable other deserving young men of small means to secure a technical education. This not only makes the student feel independent while in college, but it puts a peculiar moral obligation on him to pass on your kind deed to some other deserving fellow."

Dr. K. G. Matheson, president of Tech, has gone to Dallas, Texas, to participate in the opening of the famed new ice institute, which starts off with several millions endowment. He will return Monday.

Every Tech man living on the campus, about 250 in number, attended the rally at the Y. M. C. A. last night and joined the Bible class for home study. Mr. Comer, the assistant secretary, who comes from Vanderbilt, is rendering great aid to E. A. Turner, secretary of the association.

Professor T. P. Branch, registrar at Georgia Tech, has been kept busy during the past week perfecting the organization of the co-operative engineering courses. A number of men have taken up this work with much zest, and this unique plan promises to be an emphatic success.

CAPTAIN C. R. MORGAN DIES AT LEXINGTON

Lexington, Ky., October 11.—Captain Charlton Morgan, brother of the famous confederate general, John Morgan, and himself a former United States consul to Sicily, died here last night. He was 74 years of age. He served under his brother during the civil war, escaped with him from the Ohio penitentiary and was with the general when he was killed at Greeneville, Tenn., near the close of the war.

DIES AFTER DRINKING CARBOLIC FOR WHISKY

Louisville, Ky., October 11.—William M. Richardson, 74 years old, founder and superintendent of the Kentucky Industrial Home Shelter, last night drank carbolic acid, mistaking it for whisky, in a dark pantry of the institution, and died within fifteen minutes. The whisky and acid were in similar bottles. As soon as he had taken the draft he went to his room and fell across the bed. His groans attracted his housekeeper, who summoned a physician, but he died almost immediately upon the physician's arrival.

FATHER DESERTS SHIP LEAVING BOY BEHIND

Savannah, Ga., October 11.—(Special.)—Eluding the vigilant eyes of officers and crew of the British steamship Moorelands in the hurry and bustle incident to the sailing, Hans Fredecker, Sr., father of the 9-year-old lad who, through love for his father, risked the dangers of the high seas in stowing away on the vessel at Bremer Haven, deserted the vessel today.

The Moorelands is now on her way to Germany, and the little boy is an unwelcome charge on the hands of the shipmaster, Captain Hurdy. The father is still at large, but the police are searching for him.

MACON WOULD RETAIN COTTON CORPORATION

Macon, Ga., October 11.—(Special.)—The Macon Chamber of Commerce today decided to send a delegation of three members to Dallas, Texas, to appear before the board of directors of the Southern States' Cotton corporation next Tuesday and urge the retention of the headquarters of the organization in Macon and take whatever steps are necessary to gain that end. Dallas has made a bid for the headquarters of the big corporation.

AMENDMENTS OPPOSED IN TOWNS AND UNION

The voters of Towns and Union counties did not lean toward the constitutional amendments submitted at the last primary.

When Secretary of State Phil Cook compiled the election returns of the two counties Thursday he found that although 1,000 votes had been cast in the two counties, not a single vote was cast for the constitutional amendments.

John A. Corn was elected a member of the house of representatives from Towns, and J. W. Hendricks from Union.

MACON COUPLES ELOPE TOGETHER

Four Young People Go to Parsonage Instead of Picture Show.

Macon, Ga., October 11.—(Special.)—Serving as witnesses and attendants at each other's wedding, two popular young Macon couples were last night united in marriage by Rev. J. E. Wray, pastor of Mulberry Street Methodist church.

The young people were Miss Bertha Short and Rex Morris and Miss Nelle Word and Charles Garfield. The two brides were formally employed by local business establishments as stenographers, while the grooms are well-known young men about town.

Each of the young women left home early in the evening with their sweethearts, leaving the impression that they were going to the picture theaters. Instead they went to the home of Rev. Mr. Wray, where the double ceremony was performed. Then they went to a local hotel and telephoned their relatives that they were married.

CITY AND COUNTY STILL SCRAPPING OVER BRIDGE

Macon, Ga., October 11.—(Special.)—Any effort by the city of Macon to force the county commissioners of Bibb to spend a large sum of money in repairing the Spring street bridge will be contested in the courts. The commissioners declare that the city officials are playing politics with the people of North Macon, in that they are making it appear that they are striving to give them better water service and are unable to do so because of the position taken by the county.

Commissioner A. J. Long declares that the sole object in wanting the bridge strengthened is so that the municipal water company can lay a big water main across it. He declares that the water main will not benefit the county, and that if the city wants to place it across the bridge it should bear the expense of strengthening the bridge.

The city has called on the city engineer and building inspector of the bridge, and if it is found to be unsafe to condemn it and order the county to put it in good repair at once. It is expected that such an order will soon be given and the county is preparing to resist it.

COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION WANTS MEDICAL INSPECTOR

Macon, Ga., October 11.—(Special.)—The Bibb county board of education has decided that a medical inspector for the schools of the county is an absolute necessity, and will appeal to the county commissioners for an annual appropriation of $3,000 to defray the expense of such an officer. It is claimed that many of the school children are deficient in their work because of the fact that they have not had proper medical attention, and that if given the needed treatment they will soon be able to carry on their school work in as good a manner as the perfectly sound children.

LARGE ILLICIT STILL FOUND NEAR RED OAK

Macon, Ga., October 11.—(Special.)—Three United States deputy marshals last night raided an illicit distillery near Round Oak, in Jones county, and found a model plant which bore signs of having been in operation only a short time previous. The still was of a 45-gallon capacity, and was one of the most complete and up-to-date the local deputies have ever encountered. A large quantity of "moonshine" in the making was destroyed. No arrests were made, but there will probably be further developments later.

SAID RELATIVES TRIED TO "RAILROAD" HIM TO ASYLUM

Macon, Ga., October 11.—(Special.)—Charging that his relatives have tried to railroad him to the asylum, W. T. Raines, aged 50 years, and former tax collector of Crawford county, was late this afternoon granted a rehearing. He charges that he was not even given an opportunity to appear before the jury and was denied the privilege of having a lawyer to represent him.

Tried to Drown Himself.

Macon, Ga., October 11.—(Special.)—Crazed by drugs, John Venable, a white man, attempted to drown himself in the Ocmulgee river just below the Spring street bridge this afternoon. He was rescued by Jim Williamson, a negro, who came near losing his life in pulling the white man from the water. Venable is now in jail, and his sanity may be inquired into.

THEATERS

"The Call of the Heart."

(At the Lyric.)

"The Call of the Heart" will play a week's engagement at the Lyric theater, commencing Monday.

"The Call of the Heart" deals with the marriageable girl and the ambitious parent who seeks distinction. It is an intense, thrilling drama, replete with comedy to relieve the moments of tense situations, and is interesting to the final curtain.

"The Quaker Girl."

(At the Atlanta.)

Only two more chances remain for Atlantans to see the finest of the musical comedies, "The Quaker Girl," which is at the Atlanta for a matinee today and a good-by performance tonight. A packed house is certain for the matinee, while the night performance is expected to attract hundreds of the collegians who are here for the football game. Tonight is the last performance of the big show.

"Madame Sherry."

(At the Atlanta.)

Seats are now selling for the engagement of "Madame Sherry" at the Atlanta next week. With Ada Meade and other well-known players in the cast this show will appear at the playhouse de luxe Monday and Tuesday with a special matinee Tuesday afternoon. This play has lost none of its charm, and will be given by a company of real merit.

Emma Bunting.

(At the Forsyth.)

The Emma Bunting company will present its last two performances of "The Morals of Marcus" at matinee and night performances on Saturday, and large crowds will witness the events. A tremendous sale has been registered for the matinee, and the night sale indicates one of the largest gatherings of the week.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Grand.)

There have been good vaudeville bills presented in Atlanta, and one of the most pleasing that has attracted the attention of greeat audiences will conclude its stay at the Grand with matinee and night performances on this Saturday. There are acts that return to headline positions on Broadway and in the larger cities, and there they are drawing cards, just as they have been here in Atlanta.

CREDITORS GET FULL PAYMENT

100 Per Cent and Interest Paid in American National Beverage Case.

W. A. Fuller, trustee in bankruptcy of the estate of the American National Beverage company, bankrupt, is sending out checks to the creditors of that company who have proven their claims in payment of a dividend of 90 per cent, to which one year's interest on the principal amount of each claim has been added. A previous dividend of 10 per cent has already been paid, so that this makes a dividend of 100 per cent with interest to the creditors.

As far as local records show this is the only case which has ever gone through the bankruptcy courts here and paid out 100 cents on the dollar.

The extraordinary dividend was made possible by the price realized by the trustee and his attorneys, Messrs. Watkins & Latimer, for certain formulas for the preparation of the beverages manufactured by the American National Beverage company. These formulas had a value that was purely problematical, and until they were sold the company was in fact insolvent, because there were less than $1,000 of assets and $4,000 or $5,000 of obligations.

In addition to paying the creditors in full there will be several thousand dollars left for the stockholders. Anticipating this, the stockholders have already instituted proceedings in the state courts to get this surplus and there will be a contest over it by the stockholders of the Ulaca company, the predecessor of the American National Beverage company, and those of the latter company. The stockholders of the Ulaca company claim that that company was never properly and legally absorbed by the American National Beverage company, and that therefore this surplus should be paid over to them. It is more than likely that the creditors of the Ulaca company and some of the creditors of the American National Beverage company, who failed to file their claims in the United States court within one year and were thereby barred, will intervene in the state courts and make a four-cornered fight for the money. In the state court proceedings W. A. Fuller was appointed receiver, and hence in a few days, upon filing his final report in the bankruptcy case, will turn over to himself as receiver this surplus and the fight in the state court be on.

ELKS MAKE PLANS FOR BIG KIRMESS

Hundreds Respond to Invitations to Gather at Lodge Home Friday.

One of the largest crowds of young people ever gathered in the ballroom of the Elks' lodge appeared there last night in response to a thousand invitations sent out by the lodge, asking them to take part in the Kirmess which is to be held December 7, 8 and 9 for the benefit of the Christmas stocking fund, by which the poor of Atlanta are to be helped during the holiday season.

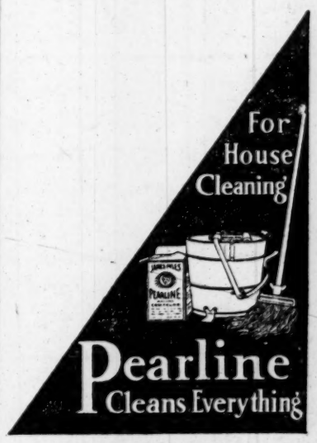

Grand Exalted Ruler J. W. Simmons told of the purpose of the Kirmess, and reminded those present of what splendid amateur production it could be made. His remarks were followed by others from enthusiastic Elks in telling of the purpose of the Kirmess and the beautiful thought that prompted it.

Many of the performers were assigned to different numbers, and dances by Messrs. Agostini and Lynwood, who are to have charge of the production, and the dates for the first regular rehearsal were set.

The children who are to take part will have their first meeting at 10:30 o'clock today. There will be a committee of ladies to meet them in the reception rooms of the lodge and take them to the ballroom, where the rehearsals are being conducted.

On Monday night a general rehearsal will be held for all the participants except the children. The children will meet at 4 o'clock every afternoon, and from now on until the opening performance there will be rehearsals every day.

Mrs. John M. Slaton has been chosen as chairman of a committee of ladies who are to meet at the lodge today at 10 o'clock and discuss various plans and details for the performance and for the ball which is to follow.

MILEAGE HEARING COMES TO CLOSE

Railroad Commission Takes the Matter Under Advisement

Twenty Days Allowed For Filing of Supplemental Statements—Railroads Oppose Increase in the Baggage Weight.

After two days of testimony and argument as to the wisdom of requiring railroads to change their present rules as to mileage and require conductors to pull mileage on trains, the Georgia railroad commission last night took the matter under advisement.

Twenty days more were allowed within which both sides may file supplemental statements.

At the conclusion of the mileage hearing, the commission Friday afternoon took testimony on the application of the traveling public for an increase in the weight of baggage to 250 pounds. It is now 150.

During the day the courtroom was crowded with railroad men from all parts of the south, but there were only a few witnesses for the traveling men present. The attendance has considerably fallen off from the first day.

Railroad Men on Stand.

H. F. Smith, vice president and traffic manager of the Western and Atlantic railroad, and S. H. Hardwick, passenger traffic manager of the Southern railway, were the principal witnesses for the railroads, and explained from the railroad standpoint the reason why it would be extremely costly, as well as impracticable, to permit mileage to be pulled on trains. The danger of conductors losing the mileage lifted, the delay occasioned by this process, and the vast combinations of figures that would have to be carried in the heads of conductors to enable them to pull the proper mileage were advanced.

S. H. Hardwick admitted that the big trunk lines, notably the Pennsylvania, could pull mileage on trains because they could afford to employ enough men to do the work, and check each train every fifty miles. Southern railroads could not afford to do this, he said. Trunk lines protect themselves by means of the rebate system, he told the commission.

Ideal Way of Exchanging.

He read a letter from the New York Central passenger agent stating that the ideal way to handle mileage was to have it exchanged at stations, although that road issues a 500 and a 1,000-mile interchangeable book and permits passengers to check their baggage and have it pulled on trains.

Asked why the Illinois Central permitted conductors on its branch lines in Alabama to pull mileage, Mr. Hardwick said they were probably willing to take the risk of loss of revenue from this cause.

Chairman Candler interrupted Mr. Hardwick to remark that, speaking only for himself, he considered the southeastern interchangeable mileage book contract the most liberal issued anywhere in the country.

May Adopt Southeastern.

The passenger agent of the Pennsylvania railroad had reported to Mr. Hardwick that his line had received requests to adopt the southeastern form of ticket, said Mr. Hardwick in reply.

H. D. Shackleford, chairman of the legislative committee of the Georgia Travelers' association, testified during the afternoon. He insisted it took no longer to pull mileage on trains than to lift a ticket. He insisted that this plan would be a great convenience to the traveling public, and would prevent waste of time in going to the depot far in advance of leaving time. He was cross-examined by James L. Mayson, who represented the appellants.

C. J. Hollingsworth, of Atlanta, another witness for the travelers, and Levi Reeves, of Cartersville, made short statements, saying their traveling men wanted the proposed change made.

Increase in Baggage.

The commission then took up the question of ordering an increase in the weight of baggage allowed to be carried on a ticket. E. L. Russell, of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, made a comprehensive statement against the proposed increase. He said the railroads were now carrying on their passenger trains all the baggage that could be carried with present equipment, and the increase in weight would be most expensive to them.

Counsel appearing for the railroads were Sanders McDaniel, Hamilton McWhorter, of the Southern; Judge W. G. Loying, of the Seaboard; Robert C. Alston, for the Atlantic Coast Line; John L. Tye and H. C. Peeples for the Louisville and Nashville. Twenty or thirty other railroad officials from all parts of the south were present. James L. Mayson appeared for the appellants.

PLAN PENNY LUNCHES FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN

An experiment in penny lunches for school children who leave home in the morning without eating enough breakfast or bringing lunch will be inaugurated by the board of lady visitors of the public schools at Inman Park school on Monday. If the plan proves a success it will be extended to other schools of the city.

Two rooms have been set aside for the experiment, and the ladies will serve a wholesome lunch to any child who can produce the price—which is one penny.

The youngster who leaves home on the jump after a hurried breakfast, or no breakfast at all, and who refuses to take lunch, will not have to go hungry until 2:30 o'clock hereafter if the board of lady visitors have guessed right. For a penny they can serve a sandwich and a piece of fruit to each child. They need about $200 to start their scheme, but believe that after it is well under way it will prove self-supporting.

Both teachers and pupils are looking forward eagerly to the innovation, and the will be a rush on the lunch counter on the long recess comes on Mond

GIANT MOUNTAINEER SEES ATLANTA FOR FIRST TIME

Jesse Owenby, in the center, who is only 7 feet high. On the left is a Towns county friend, and on the right is A. E. Binder, game warden of Fulton county.

Seven feet of mountaineer from Hiwassee, in Towns county, came to town yesterday in the person of Jesse Owenby, who was a witness in a moonshine case, and when he drifted around the streets after nightfall he nearly created a riot.

As Owenby and a party of Towns county friends swung into Marietta street looking for the nearest eating house a crowd of several hundred quickly gathered and a police escort was necessary to make a way for them.

"Say, mister, is it cold up there?" yelled a small urchin.

"How does it look on top of the Candler building?" asked another as he craned his neck to see Owenby's face. One Towns county man said Owenby could stand in a valley and see over the top of the hills.

The Towns county giant is 23 years of age and a Benedict of two months. Both his parents were of normal size and his wife is hardly 5 feet in height. He is vigorous and bronzed from outdoor life and farm work.

"Do you walk much?" asked the genial idiot.

"I never seen anybody that could beat me walking," said the man from Hiwassee.

A. E. Binder flushed the party of which Owenby was the center, and as Mr. Binder is game warder in Fulton county, he considered Owenby his special game, the biggest he had ever bagged, as he admitted. The tall man had never been farther away from home than Clayton, in Rabun county, before coming to Atlanta as a witness in the federal court. He enjoyed his first view of the village and admitted it was some town.

CITY NEWS

Preaches on Campaign.—Dr. G. L. Hanscom's Sunday morning sermon will deal with the present mayoralty campaign as touching moral issues which are of vital importance to our city. His subject will be: "Civic Righteousness, Not Political Ambition, the Goal of the Christian Church." Sunday evening, at 8 o'clock, his subject will be: "Unhappy Through Neglect."

Rev. Ridley's Sermon.—Rev. Caleb A. Ridley, pastor of the Central Baptist church, will give the third in his series of sermons on "Bible-Character Study" Sunday morning. For the past two Sundays the church would not hold the people who wanted to hear these addresses. The special subject for Sunday night is: "David, the Young Man Who Found a Kingdom While Watching Sheep." Services begin promptly at 7:30 o'clock, led by one of the greatest chouruses in Atlanta.

Bishop Knight to Preach—Bishop A. W. Knight, of the diocese of Cuba and the Canal Zone, is in Atlanta, and will preach Sunday morning at St. Philip's cathedral. As former pastor of St. Philip's, Bishop Knight is well known to many Atlantans, who are welcoming him back to the city of his former labors.

"Girls' Day" on Sunday.—Sunday will be "Girls' day" at the Second Baptist Sunday school. There will be an attractive program of recitations, vocal and instrumental music and choruses by girls and young ladies. The ushers will also be girls, and Miss Gladys White, daughter of Dr. John E. White, the pastor, will act as superintendent. The young ladies wish to extend a cordial invitation to the public to be present at 9:30 Sunday morning.

Unitarian Annual Meeting.—An annual event of much import to the members both elective and associate of the Unitarian church, of Atlanta, is the annual meeting to be held on Monday night, October 14, at 8 o'clock. Reports of all departments of the church, election of officers, appointment of standing committees and the study and outline of plans are the chief matters of concern on the program. All members of the church, both in and out of the city are urged to be present at this important gathering.

Reunion of Adamson Family.

Carrollton, Ga., October 11.—(Special)—The annual reunion of the Adamson family with a number of invited guests was held at Crystal springs here this week. Many members of this noted family who had come from different portions of the state were present. Their history enters largely into that of the entire county, as was brought out in several short addresses and reaches back to the revolutionary war.

Another feature of the occasion was the barbecue dinner served in the old style way. Those of the family present from out of the city were Pitt Adamson, of Rex, Ga., who presided as master of ceremonies, and Dr. and Mrs. W. P. Adamson, of Tampa, Fla.; Hon. W. C. Adamson, of Georgia, and others.

Corn Club Winners.

Dublin, Ga., October 11.—(Special.)—The winners in the Boys' Corn club contest for the twelfth district were announced yesterday afternoon by Professor J. Walter Hendricks, in charge of this work in Georgia. The winning counties are as follows:

Emanuel county came first with a club of twelve members and an average yield of 57 bushels per acre. Profit, $40.97 per acre.

Second—Johnson county, eleven members; average yield per acre, 41 2-3 bushels; profit, $23.33.

Third—Toombs, five members; average yield of 67 2-3 bushels; prof't of $44.75.

Fourth—Montgomery, three members; 85 1-3 bushels per acre; profit, $66.82.

TRAIN BANDITS LEAVE NO TRACE

Express Messenger Who Battled With Robbers Will Recover From Wounds.

Fort Smith, Ark., October 11.—Up to a late hour tonight no trace had been found of the four men who attempted to rob the northbound Kansas City Southern train No. 2 near Mena, Ark., early today, the third occurrence of its kind within a week along the Oklahoma-Arkansas border. Express Messenger Murrel Burgett, who battled with the robbers and whose quick wit prevented the plundering of his car, is reported tonight recovering from wounds he sustained when he was kicked and beaten by the men in an effort to force him to reveal the hiding place of valuables he had secreted while the robbers were battering a hole in the car door.

It was stated today in a dispatch from Mena that one of the bandits had been wounded by Burgett and had been captured. A line of blood leading from the car indicates that one of the men was shot, but he made his escape.

While the latest robbery was being attempted a sheriff's posse, pursuing the men who robbed a Kansas City Southern train last week, were being led on what proved to be a false trail by a man giving his name as Luther Reynolds, who asserted that he was one of the band and would escort the posse to where the loot was to be divided. The posse spent the night at the supposed appointed place. They returned empty-handed this morning. "Reynolds" was given permission to join his fellows for the time and escaped.

In addition to the holding up of the two Kansas City Southern trains, a Rock Island train was held up and robbed of a small amount of money and valuables several nights ago. Yesterday a "tip" came to the officials of Haskell county, Oklahoma, that a Midland Valley train was to be robbed. The train, however, completed its run without incident, possibly due to the presence of the posse aboard.

Because of the frequency of bank robberies in Oklahoma, the Oklahoma Bankers' association appealed to Governor Cruce, of that state, today to adopt energetic measures to rid the state of criminal bands.

Fair at Carrollton.

Carrollton, Ga., October 11.—(Special.)—From the time the big parade started on Monday opening the fourth district fair the streets have been alive with people from this and adjoining counties. The program this year has been excellent in every respect and the horse races and the flying machines, together with other amusements, have drawn a large attendance. The fair will close Saturday.

KNOX AND FISHER BACK HOME AGAIN

Secretary of Interior Reports on Investigation Conducted in Honolulu.

Seattle, Wash., October 11.—The cruiser Maryland bringing Secretary of State Knox from Japan and Secretary of the Interior Fisher from Honolulu arrived today. Secretary Fisher, before leaving for San Francisco, said:

"I was sent to the islands by President Taft to investigate charges filed against Governor Walter F. Frear by Delegate to Congress Kalanianaole, who sought to prevent the reappointment of the governor and who alleged misconduct in the administration of the government. The investigation took on a broader scope than had been contemplated and covered social, political and economic conditions in the islands, and the result was that the charges against the governor were lost sight of and at the close of the hearing counsel for Kananianaole publicly stated that as some of the charges had been unproved and others found to be based on erroneous information, he wished to withdraw them.

"One reform we all agreed on—that the public city corporations ought to be placed under the supervision of a public utilities commission. The interstate commerce commission has jurisdiction over the islands, but it is too far away. It was the unanimity of opinion in the islands that the investigation was the most helpless that has ever taken place there."

Secretary Knox made the following statement to the press:

"As publicly announced before I left Washington, and repeated on my arrival in Japan, the purpose of my recent mission was on behalf of the president and the people of the United States to pay a tribute of respect to the memory of the late emperor and express the appreciation of the people of America for the wonderful achievements under his reign and to express the sympathy of America in the new Japan.

"In fulfilling that mission I was received on all sides, by the court, the officials and the people of Japan in the spirit in which I came. I have the pleasantest recollections of the kindly reception that was everywhere accorded me in Japan, both personally and as a representative of the American people at a time of profound national mourning."

Realty Company Organized.

Brunswick, Ga., October 11.—(Special.)—A petition for charter has been filed in Glynn superior court by the United Realty company, whose incorporators are L. Ludwig, Fred Pfeiffer and Max Isaac, all of this county. The company is capitalized at $5,000 and the particular business of the new concern will be buying, selling and exchanging real estate.

Under New Management

The Hotel Empire, 8 South Pryor street, with John L. Edmondson, lessee, has been placed under new and capable management. It has been renovated from top to bottom, and is being conducted in a thoroughly first-class manner.

The Empire is equipped with electric elevator, private baths, electric lights, steam heat, and is convenient to all trains.

Special attention is given to ladies traveling alone or with children.

TEDDY EXPLAINS TARIFF RECORD

Says Time Was Not Ripe for Change in His Administration.

Oshkosh, Wis., October 11.—A defense of his record on the tariff question and an attack of Governor Wilson's position were made in a speech here tonight by Colonel Roosevelt. Governor Wilson, he said, had been the hope of the progressives, but had changed his attitude and "at present his sole chance lies in the support of the reactionaries."

He spoke in a warehouse, as available halls were small. Here, in Senator La Follette's own state, he colonel discussed for the first time of his campaign the senator's opposition to him.

Colonel Roosevelt said the progressive party's campaign fund this year would be less than half the fund of either the democratic or republican party. The progressives, he said, were planning on a basis that would involve the expenditure of about $350,000.

Colonel Roosevelt, arguing questions of some of his opponents as to why he did not take up the tariff question when he was president, said:

"When I became president business had just passed through two terrible earthquakes, there having been two complete and sweeping changes of the tariff in the preceding eight years. It would have been mere folly immediately to have prepared for another change. The time for such another change did not ripen until the very end of my administration.

"During the time that I was president there was no complaint that I was not doing enough. The complaint of all my enemies was that I was doing too much. The chief demand that the tariff should be taken up came from the great railway and trust magnates who have always been anxious to use the tariff as a red herring to be dragged across the trail whenever action which they dislike is threatened—and Mr. Wilson is obligingly trying to play their game at this moment."

THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS MONTHLY TO THE EVANGELICAL MINISTERS' ASSOCIATION.

October 11, 1912.

TO EVERY MINISTER AND PASTOR
IN ATLANTA.

My Dear Brother:-

We believe that the Churches are approaching the greatest victory they have ever had.

Your message Sunday will reach not only this city but the world whose eyes are upon Atlanta today.

We ask that, without personalities or bitterness toward any man, you place the issues of "Woodwardism" before your congregation, Sunday morning and evening, in such a way that no man can misunderstand.

Four thousand and more men who are registered did not vote in the last primary.

If the messages from the pulpits of Atlanta cause one-half of these to vote according to their conscience Tuesday of next week, the victory against "Woodwardism" will be overwhelming.

Stress the duty of every man to go to the polls Tuesday and vote according to his conscience.

We shall pray unceasingly for you.

Do likewise for us.

And God grant victory to His people.

Yours as ever,

JNO. J. EAGAN,
Chairman.

Mathewson, the Giants' big gun, again looms up in Boston's way. He is the Giants' hope today. McGraw might risk Crandall, however. If he does "ole Doc" will probably win. Collins or Bedient will probably work for Boston.

"Smoky Joe's" Hurling and "Heinie's" Fielding Proves Great Combination—Tesreau Gets in Stride Too Late—Murray Makes Great Catch—Weather Unsettled for Saturday.

WEATHER CONDITIONS BAD; MAY POSTPONE TODAY'S GAME

Boston, October 11.—Whether the fifth game of the world series can be played in this city tomorrow was uncertain tonight. Official Weather Forecaster Smith predicted occasional showers during the day, probably in the forenoon. The weather chart indicated that the showers would be heavy, and that a period of extreme cold would follow. It is possible, however, Mr. Smith said, that the precipitation might not be sufficient to prevent play.

(By Associated Press.)

New York, October 11.—The Boston Red Sox, pennant winners of the American league, were victors today over the New York National league team by a score of 3 to 1 in the fourth game of the world's series. The Red Sox have now won two games and the Giants one game, the second contest having ended in a tie.

Some 36,000 people jammed in the confines of the Brush stadium today saw simon pure baseball in a contest that thrilled. The two teams played in their true form and the nervousness shown in earlier contests was not observed.

"Smoky Joe" Shines.

"Smoky Joe" Wood shone today. The Red Sox players fairly hugged their star boxman as he walked out of the playing field with his second victory over the New York club dangling from his belt. Gray, sodden clouds screened the sun and in the murky atmosphere Wood's speed ball worked havoc with the Giants' batting. Only once was a Giant batter able to gauge the Boston man's curve for a hit when a hit meant a run.

The infield was wet from a night's rain and Wood stood on the hurling mound for nine innings with a pile of sawdust beside him to dry the ball before each delivery to the plate. His service was without blemish or flaw, not one man being passed, while eight Giants walked to the plate and then walked back again after vainly trying to read the riddle of the Boston boxman's mystifying drop balls and fast inshoots.

"How can we hit what we can't see?" asked "Red" Murray, when he walked to the bench after fanning for the second time.

Wood Is Cool.

Wood was in trouble in only two innings, in the sixth and again in the seventh, when the home club's only run came over the plate. The sixth showed Wood at his best. Tesreau jabbed a hit to left and Devore bounced a drive off Wood's ankle for a base before anyone was out. The stands went wild with excitement and tried to rattle the Boston pitcher. But Wood was as cool as a Labrador iceberg in March. He caused Larry Doyle to pop out and then fed Snodgrass and Murray on quick-breaking down shoots, making those Giant batters send weak rollers to the Red Sox infield.

Boston broke into the run column in the second when Gardner tripled and scored on Tesreau's wild heave of a spitball. The second run came in the fourth, when Stahl reached first on a force hit, stole second, went to third on an infield out and home on Cady's single through Fletcher. Boston made its third run in the ninth. Gardner singled, was sacrificed to second by Stahl, to third on an infield out and tallied on Wood's single.

The Giants' only run was scored in the seventh by Herzog on his own single to center and Fletcher's two-bagger to right field.

Wagner the Star.

A New York boy broke the hearts of the Giant partisans. He is Heinie Wagner, the Red Sox shortstop, whose plays today robbed the Giants of three hits. Two of his stops of smashes over second were made with one hand on the dead run. Then half turning, he snapped his throws to first base ahead of the runners by a step.

With one run needed to tie in the eighth, Devore slashed a grounder past Wood. Thousands cheered as the ball sped by second base, for a hit meant a good start for a final rally. Wagner raced over the bag, scooped the ball with his gloved hand and snapped the ball to first without recovering his balance. The fleet Devore was out by inches.

Yerkes and Fletcher also starred in fielding plays, while Murray robbed Hooper of a three-base hit at the beginning of the fifth. Running back to the concrete wall, the Giant right fielder leaped into the air and clutched the ball with one hand.

Tesreau Slow Starting.

Tesreau did not get into his pitching stride until the Red Sox made two runs. After that he tightened up, and in the fifth, sixth and seventh innings turned the Bostons back in one, two, three order. The moist ball-flinger was taken out only to allow a pinch-hitter to bat for him.

There were thirteen strike-outs during the game. For Boston, Cady struck out twice and Lewis, Stahl and Wagner once each. On the New York side Murray and Merkle were fanned twice and Devore, Snodgrass, Meyers and Tesreau went out once each by the strike-out route.

Baseball's Greatest Stars and Generals Discuss Championship Battle From Every Angle

BY LARRY DOYLE,
(Captain New York Giants.)

New York, October 11.—Matty will win his game in Boston tomorrow and we'll be even again. There are no apologies to make for today's game. It was a grand game of ball with the luck rather against us, though I'm frank to say Wagner had a good deal to do with the trend of luck. These Boston boys seem to play closer, better ball behind Wood than they do behind any of their other pitchers. We got to Wood all right and only the air-tight defense of the others of the team prevented our giving Smoky Joe a drubbing.

BY JOE WOOD,
(Boston's Star Pitcher.)

New York, October 11.—With the splendid fielding today almost any pitcher could have won his game. Heinie Wagner fully demonstrated the claim made by his friends that he is the greatest shortstop in the business. Had it not been for him the result might have been different today.

BY BUCK O'BRIEN,
(Red Sox Spitballer.)

New York, October 11.—I hope I'll get another chance against the Giants in this series. I am more confident than ever that I can hold them. We have only two more games to win now. Joe Wood is safe for one of them and if I have a chance I feel certain of accounting for the other.

BY CHARLIE HERZOG,
(Series' Best Hitter.)

New York, October 11.—Joe Wood stopped us again today and the Bostons have the jump on us again. Wood is the only pitcher that can stop us, and I don't believe he can again. With Matty and Marquard pitching, the next two games are surely ours, even if they pitch Wood again Monday.

BY HUGH JENNINGS,
(Manager of Detroit Tigers.)

New York, October 11.—Joe Wood, with as much smoke as ever behind his deadly fast ball, and using more curves (and controlling them better) than I ever saw him use in a game, took his second victory of the series from the Giants yesterday by 3 runs to 1. Manager Jake Stahl sent his speed marvel back at McGraw's men because everything in the way of conditions suited Wood. The day was dark and when Wood has his smoke ball working, as it did yesterday, the ball is upon the batter before he sees it. The rest is easy to understand. I still stick to my opinion that the two teams are about as evenly matched in playing strength as two high-class ball clubs could be. It would not surprise me to see the series go to the limit.

BY TY COBB.
(World's Best Batter.)

New York, October 11.—Mixing his terrific speed with a fast-breaking curve, Joe Wood again baffled the Giants today. The game I consider the turning point of the 1912 series. I believe the Red Sox will now win the world's championship. Today's game was, I am confident, just the tonic Boston needed. I expect that Stahl's team will show pepper and aggressiveness in the following games. Too much credit cannot be given to Wood for his sensational pitching Friday, for with the day dark and cloudy, it was made to order for "Smoky Joe," and he whistled the ball over with bullet-like speed, alternating that with a wonderful curve, which completely baffled the Giants' batsmen.

BY BILL CARRIGAN.
(Red Sox Catcher.)

New York, October 11.—Our boys are now in their old stride. Today they looked more like their old selves than at any time since the series began. Today's victory was due to the phenomenal pitching of Joe Wood and the sensational fielding of Heine Wagner.

I doubt if anyone ever saw a short-stop make three more difficult plays in one game than Wagner did in this game. The hits on which these plays were made were not terrific grounders, but they were batted in such a way that only a player of the first-class could have made them.

BY RUBE MARQUARD.
(Giants' Great Southpaw.)

New York, October 11.—(Special.)—The Giants are still very much in the running. Wood is out of the way now. I noticed as he walked to the bench today after the seventh and eighth innings that he rubbed his right forearm. Matty will turn the trick for us today. Slow ground beat us out of today's game. If the infield had been hard and fast, two of Wagner's assists and two of Yerkes' would have gone for hits that would have scored runs. I must give credit to Joe Wood for the great game he pitched. His fast ball was not as good as Tuesday, but his curve was working much better.

BY CHRISTY MATHEWSON.
(Star Pitcher of the Giants.)

New York, October 11.—(Special.)—With the passing of every game the situation on the benches of the opposing teams grows more tense, the nerves of the players more tightly drawn, the strain greater and the conversation less pleasant. It is a tough series, one of the hardest on record, and not a game has been won by a margin of more than two runs. All the players realize that one team must break under the strain and the club that does concedes the title. The opposing players do not talk to one another except to snarl their remarks. At the least provocation there is a flare-up. In spite of the fact that Wood beat us, I have nothing but admiration for Wood. His was the work of an artist. His control was magnificent and his judgment fine. Looking toward the future, there is much to encourage the Giants. I believe the Red Sox is a team with one pitcher and that he has not the physical strength to win the championship alone.

BY JAKE STAHL,
(Manager of the Red Sox.)

New York, October 11.—That game today looks like the series. It gives us the edge again, and we play the next one on our grounds. If McGraw starts Mathewson I think that we can beat him. We hit him hard on Wednesday and friends tell me that he cannot come back with only two days' rest. If we win tomorrow it will decide the series.

BY JEFF TESREAU,
(Pitcher for Giants.)

New York, October 11.—Once more I have started against the Red Sox and once more I have been beaten. There was no reason for it other than that twirling great ball, but that is not an excuse for my showing in that game. Nobody is to blame but myself for those first two runs. I could not seem to settle down to steady myself. In the beginning, and this is not an apology for my showing, a drive tore the nail off the middle finger of my pitching hand in the first inning, and that made it hard for me to grip the ball. I had lots of stuff, but could not seem to get the ball where I wanted and this inability to control my pitching accurately cost me the game. We are not beaten in the series yet. Wood has shown great form against us, but none of the other Red Sox pitchers has. Wood cannot pitch every game. If we win tomorrow we will win the series. If we lose we will have to beat Wood on Monday.

BY CHIEF MEYERS,
(Catcher for Giants.)

New York, October 11.—I have no doubt at all that we will win in Boston tomorrow. Back on even terms with the alleged "speed boys" we'll show them such a finish as will make their hair stand up on end. Wood beat us today. I predicted that he wouldn't be able to come back as strong as he started and I was right. Joe was an altogether changed man from his inaugural. His first game was afr better, for then in the pinches he was able to unload such terrific speed as to make batting a matter of ordinary guesswork. The Red Sox have no greater advantage over us than they enjoyed after the opening game. We went to Boston and fought them to a standstill on their own grounds. What we have done we should repeat. Wood is the only pitcher Stahl has showed us who puzzled us the least bit. He won two games for Boston. He will have to win as many more if we are to be cheated in I was working opposite to a man our aspirations.

Mayor Fitzgerald, of Boston, presenting Manager Jake Stahl, of the Red Sox, with a White "30" just before the second game of the series at Boston. This was a gift of the fans. After the game Stahl made the following statement: "I can hardly express my gratification at receiving this splendid gift. I take it that the gift is as much a tribute to the whole Sox team as to myself. You may convey to the committee and to the Boston American my sincere approval of their selection. The car is a beauty and I know it will meet every demand that I can put on it."

Jackets Tackle Alabama Today At Tech Flats

The first real football game of the local season is scheduled for this afternoon at Tech flats, when Tech and the University of Alabama line up in battle array.

The game will be called at 3 o'clock and the admission fee will be $1 to all parts of the field.

Last year the two teams met here and played one of the prettiest and one of the fiercest fought games of the entire season, the count showing neither side able to score at the end of the four quarters.

Alabama is admittedly stronger this year than last, while Tech is admittedly weaker. Thus it will be seen that the edge veers to Coach Graves' warriors.

The new grandstand running parallel to the present one has been completed, and will be ready for occupancy today. This stand affords a much better view of the field than the old one and the fans are sure to take advantage of it.

Tackle Elmer, of Tech, and Captain and Quarterback Moody, of Alabama, two of the star players, will be unable to participate, but with substitutions in their places the teams will put their strongest line up in the field.

Here is the probable line up:

ALABAMA.	Positions.	TECH.
H. Vandergraaf	Left End	Hutton
Hamilton	Left Tackle	Leuhrman (Capt.) Montague or
Gandy	Left Guard	Welchel
Ridley	Center	Loeb
Hicks	Right Guard	Means
Gibbons	Right Tackle	Colley
Jones	Right End	Goree
Joplin	Quarterback	McDonald
McDowell	Left Halfback	Cook
A. Vandergraaf	Right Halfback	Fielder
Long	Fullback	Thomason

ATTENDANCE 36,502, RECEIPTS $76,644.

New York, October 11.—The national commission's figures for attendance and receipts at today's game were:

Paid attendance, 36,502.

Total receipts $76,644.

National commission's share, $7,644.40.

Players' share, $41,387.76.

Each club's share, $13,795.92.

AUTOS ARE WANTED FOR VISITING CHEMISTS

Atlanta chemists have issued a request for the use of private automobiles from the hours of 9 to 1 o'clock on Tuesday, October 15, when a sightseeing trip over the city will be tendered the visiting chemists.

Citizens desiring to proffer cars are requested to communicate with either J. S. Brogdon, Ivy 1306, or W. C. Dumas, Ivy 1211.

LIGHT RAINS PREDICTED FOR ATLANTA TODAY

Light rains for today are predicted by the weather bureau, and football fans are given warning to take a rain coat or a rain stick along with them to the game.

The rain, if it comes, will be the first that Atlanta has had for a week, but no change in temperature is expected as a result of the moisture.

Conditions over Georgia are expected to be about the same as in and around Atlanta. Local rainfalls scattered here and there, but not amounting to much, are forecasted.

TIGHT-FITTING SKIRTS FORCE FIRM TO WALL

The failure is the culmination of a widespread complaint among manufacturers that the close-fitting dresses now worn by women have so reduced the demand for petticoats as to make them a glut on the market. The liabilities of the bankrupt concern are estimated at $700,000; the assets at $600,000.

HOME RULE IS CERTAIN, SAYS W. H. K. REDMOND

New York, October 11.—W. H. K. Redmond, member of the British parliament, a brother of John Redmond, the Irish leader, has left for home on the steamship Celtic.

"Ireland will have home rule after the close of the present session of parliament," said Mr. Redmond. "The demonstrations here in America, for one thing, will have a great effect on the government. I have had a most successful visit."

By coincidence, Walter Long, former unionist chief secretary for Ireland, who has been lecturing in Canada against the home rule measure, was a fellow-passenger with Mr. Redmond. Although political opponents, they are good friends.

"Parliament will never pass the home rule bill in its present form," said Mr. Long.

Speculators Pinched.

New York, October 11.—A dozen men, charged with ticket speculation, arrested outside the Polo grounds today, were fined $10 apiece in police court. The operations of the men apparently were of a limited nature, as most of the arrests were made comparatively early in the day and none of the prisoners was found to have more than a half dozen tickets. The large number of seats—30,000 in all—available at the gates, had left the speculators little opportunity to ply successful trade.

SOCCER PLAYERS PRACTICE TODAY

The Atlanta soccer football club will hold a practice game this afternoon at Piedmont park, game being caleld at 3:30. All players and any others interested in the game are urged to be on hand, as a team will be chosen to play a match game with Lithonia on October 26.

CUBS-SOX TIE UP SECOND TIME

Score 3 to 3 at End of Twelve Innings—Easterly Stars.

Chicago, October 11.—With the score tied 3 to 3, the second game of the series between the Chicago American and National league clubs was called today in the twelfth inning because of darkness. The game was the second tie in the series, the opening contest Tuesday ending without a score.

Lord and Weaver collided at full speed in center field in the eighth inning, when each was trying for Miller's nit. They were knocked unconscious, and both had to be carried from the field. Lord quickly recovered, but Weaver was in a dazed condition for several hours.

Johnson, a recruit, who took Weaver's place at short, enabled the White Sox to tie up the game in the ninth inning after the Cubs had taken the lead in the eighth. With Borton on first, Johnson tripled, scoring him. Easterly followed with a triple, his fourth hit of the game, and brought Johnson home with the tieing run.

Score:	R.	H.	E.

HERZOG STILL LEADS HITTERS

Tops World's Series Batters With Average of .571. Murray Second.

By Dick Jemison.

Charles ("Buck") Herzog, the Giants' third baseman, continues to lead the hitters of the world's series with an average of .571. Murray is second, with Hooper of Boston third.

Herzog has made the most hits and Murray second, Hooper and Speaker third. Herzog, Murray, Speaker and Lewis are tied in runs scored.

The Giants continue to lead their opponents in team batting. Here are the figures of all those players who have made a hit in the series.

Magirl Knocked Out.

St. Louis, October 11.—Clarence ("Wildcat") Ferns, Kansas City welterweight, knocked out Art Magirl, of Bartlesville, Okla., in the second round tonight. The first round was about even. Ferns knocked Magirl down twice for the count of nine in the second and then dropped him with a short right uppercut.

NO FOOTBALL TICKETS FOR THE SCALPERS

Princeton, N. J., October 11.—Determined to keep the tickets for the so-called "big games" out of the hands of scalpers, the Princeton university football management has announced that all purchasers of tickets must sign contracts not to sell them at a profit or to strangers. Heretofore there has been a verbal agreement between the purchaser and the management that tickets would not be resold, but as this has not prevented speculators from getting possession of a considerable number, the new policy has been adopted.

The majority of the pasteboards are allotted on the application blank system and as each ticket is numbered, seats for either the Yale-Princeton or Harvard-Princeton games can be traced back to the original owners. If any are found in the hands of speculators the original applicant will be debarred from applying for seats for future games.

WILSON-MARSHALL FUND AMOUNTS TO $425,000

New York, October 11.—Henry M. Morgenthau, chairman of the general finance committee of the democratic national committee, announced tonight that contributions received to date for the Wilson and Marshall campaign totaled $425,000. More than $23,000 was received yesterday, and the chairman declared that $200,000 more was in sight, and would be received by the first of next week.

Mr. Morganthau said he intended to make public next week another list of contributors and disbursements.

Each Winner, $4,026.50; Each Loser, $2,682.21; Records Are Smashed

By Dick Jemison.

The individual members of the world's championship teams this year will get for their shares of the receipts a bigger amount than the participants in any world's series games ever played before.

Figuring on the basis of twenty-two players to each team, each winner will receive $4,026.50, against $3,654.59 received by the victorious Athletics last season. Each loser will receive $2,682.21, against $2,436.39 received by each Giant in 1911.

The players do not figure in a division of the spoils in any more of the games played this season, the club owners and the national commission getting the balance.

The attendance figures for the four games this year show 137,004, against 126,138 in 1911.

The players' share is $147,571.70 this year, 60 per cent of which goes to the winners, or $88,543.14, and $59,028.76 to the losers. The players divided $127,910.61 last year.

The clubs have received $98,391.86 this year, or $49,195.90 each, against $85,273.74 last year.

The national commission has received $27,328.50 this year, against $23,487.15 last year.

HE CALLS STUDENTS EDUCATED SAUSAGES

Chicago, October 11.—High school graduates in America were referred to as educated Frankfurter sausages today by Dr. C. H. Zhitlowsky, of New York, educator and social worker, who has been active in the revolutionary movement in Russia.

Dr. Zhitlowsky placed the label on the children during the course of a lecture at the University of Chicago on "the future of the nationalities in the United States."

"The pubic schools manufacture good students as a meat factory manufactures desirable Frankfurter sausages," he said.

"Thus, every year they graduate thousands of Frankfurters—I mean students duly labeled and all alike in appearance. Education will cease to be a manufacture of sausages only when you make use of the etherial elements to bring out all the human values."

JOHNSON WILL SIGN FOR THREE FIGHTS

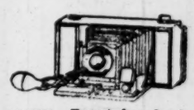

Chicago, October 11.—Jack Johnson, champion heavyweight pugilist, announced here today that he expects to sign articles tomorrow to fight Sam Langford and Sam McVey, in Australia, and Jim Flynn in Paris. Something in the neighborhood of $100,000 is involved in the three bouts contemplated by the champion. He said he expected $55,000, $5,000 training expenses and five round-trip tickets to Australia, to be the consideration for the two antipodean fights and that Paris would pay at least $35,000 to see him fight Flynn.

Corsets Fatal to Them.

The inquest on the body of an amateur actor named Leslie Glover at Birkenhead established the fact that his death was due to asphyxia caused by the stays in a theatrical costume that he was wearing.

A doctor said it was evident that Mr. Glover was trying to loosen the stays when he was seized with convulsions, collapsed and died.

had one run in and a man on first and third with but one out.

When Wagner threw out Devore by a fraction of a step in the eighth inning, he made another play which would have been impossible under other weather conditions and which also might have effected our score.

The ground slowed up Harry McCormick's hard smash in the seventh just enough for Yerkes to knock it down with one hand and throw Fletcher out at the plate. On any sort of ground these stops were wonderful, but on dry ground they would have been impossible.

Giants Made Mistakes.

We also made a couple of mistakes that hurt us. In the fourth inning Meyers' high throw to catch Stahl stealing was very unfortunate, as Stahl is not a fast man and ordinarily the Chief would have easily thrown him out. Even then he would not have scored if Tesreau had fielded Cady's hit. I thought that Jeff should have had the ball.

Of course, we missed several chances at the bat. With two men on bases in the sixth inning, and Doyle, Snodgrass and Murray coming up, our chances appeared to be bright. As a matter of fact, Doyle's failure to hit to his usual standard in the games we have played has handicapped us greatly and made a lot of difference. Larry is one of our standbys with the stick. He has driven home so many runs for the club this year that every man on it has a feeling of confidence when he sees him go up to the plate in a pinch.

Yet this is the fourth time during the series that he has popped up with men on bases. As I remember, there was on one occasion a man on second and the other times men on first and second with none out. We all know Larry, and I feel sure, as do the players, that before long he will commence to hit up to his usual standard.

Lewis Robs Meyers.

Meyers hit one on the nose today in the second inning which would have driven in a run had it not been for that jumping catch by Lewis. If the Chief and Larry get away to a good start tomorrow we may not only win from the Red Sox, but beat them by a big score. I want to give Herzog credit for his continued heavy hitting and his all-around fine work. I can depend upon him to be in the fighting all the time, and his aggressiveness helps to keep the other boys on their toes.

Jack Murray made another catch today such as we have come to expect of him. You will remember that I considered Murray a better fielder than Hooper. This series certainly has not caused me to change my opinion. Hooper has had an opportunity to throw two men out at the plate since these games began and on both occasions he has made very ordinary throws. According to the figures Murray has outbatted Hooper and accepted more chances in the field.

Fletcher had another good day today. His very timely hit scored our only run and was also the only extra base hit that we got. As I mentioned before, Wagner robbed him of another hit by a piece of fancy fielding.

Wood Hits Well.

As far as Tesreau's pitching goes, I figure that he did very well to hold a championship ball team to one earned run. I am perfectly satisfied with his work. Jeff also got a nice single. Wood is another pitcher that surely hits some. If it had not been for his batting and that of Gardner we might have had another tie game.

I do not care to say just who I shall pitch tomorrow. As a matter of fact I shall start the man who looks best to me just before the game. I will say, however, that I believe that my team can beat any pitcher that Boston has with the exception of Wood, and I think that the next time we face him we will beat him, too. He has been pretty lucky to get away with the two games that he has won.

I am far from discouraged simply because we are now one game behind. I can assure you that, like John Paul Jones, we have just begun to fight. We are going to give them a battle every step of the way and, moreover, we expect to win.

"Called Down" Washington.

It was 122 years ago—June 28, 1790—that congress authorized President Washington to select a "Federal territory, not exceeding ten miles square, on the river Potomac, at some place between the mouths of the Eastern Branch and the Conogocheoque, for the permanent seat of the government of the United States."

The Father of His Country took his time about the matter, making haste slowly, and with characteristic caution and prudence finally closed the bargain that gave to the nation the land upon which its capital city was to rise.

The site of the now splendid capital was purchased from four planters, named Young, Carroll, Davidson and Burns. A thrifty, hard-headed and thoroughly plain-spoken Scotchman, Burns was not willing to part with his land for the price that was offered, and when Washington, in rather straight-out language, remonstrated with him for holding out, the old Scotchman said to him: "I suppose, Mr. Washington, you think that people are going to take every grist that comes from you as pure grain, but who would you have been if you had not married the widow Custis?"

It was a terrible thrust, and we are informed that the great man never allowed David Burns to speak to him again.

The city, being laid out, the cornerstone of the capitol was laid by Washington on the 18th day of September, 1793, with Masonic honors and an address by the Father of His Country. Strange to say, the president's address was lost, and we can only guess as to what the speaker said.

What he really said we do not know, but we do know that he could not possibly have had anything like a full realization of what a center of power and influence among mankind that capitol was destined to become.

When Washington laid the cornerstone the United States of America was a third-rate power. The first census had just been taken, and its population was only 4,000,000. The people were thinly scattered throughout the thirteen states, between the Atlantic and the Alleghenies, and over the mountain a handful of hardy pioneers were making the humble beginnings of Kentucky, Ohio and Tennessee.

There were hardly any roads in the country, mails were practically unknown, and manufacturers were few and far between. Practically the entire wealth of the country lay in its crude agriculture, and politically the nation had scarcely begun to exist. That there was a United States of America was a fact that was but dimly perceived among the cabinets of Europe.

How changed all things are today, after the comparatively brief period of 120 years!

It is hard for us to realize that ours is the greatest and most powerful nation that history knows anything about, a nation compared with which the Roman empire, when at the height of glory, was a pygmy; a nation whose power reaches around the world, and whose influence dominates all the councils of all the nations on earth. Greater far than ever the Roman forum was is that capitol by the Potomac, the cornerstone of which Washington laid in 1793.

It has been decided by the government in Kwangtung at Canton) to send 150 Chinese students abroad to be educated with a view to their filling positions in the government in the future. One hundred of these students will be sent to Japan and the best fifty to Europe.

So concentrated is the heat in an electric range that a new kitchen cabinet contains both a refrigerator and a range but a few inches apart.

FORT CAPTURED BY MONTENEGRO

Unless Reinforcements Arrive Turkish Town Will Fall.

Reports of War Follow Meeting of Greek Council of Ministers—Hopes for Peaceful Settlement Still Entertained in Sofia.

London, October 11.—The Montenegrin army followed up its success against the Turks by capturing yesterday the fort guarding Tushi, thus opening the road for an advance on the Turkish town of Scutari.

Unless Turkish reinforcements have reached Scutari it is considered probable that that city will soon fall into the hands of the Montenegrin army.

Nothing new has reached London from Sofia or Belgrade today as to the progress of negotiations in the capitals, but an unusually well informed correspondent telegraphed from Sofia that hopes of a peaceful settlement must not be given up yet.

From Athens, on the other hand, comes a more pessimistic report as a sequel to the meeting of the Greek council of ministers.

TURKISH FORT CAPTURED BY THE MONTENEGRIN ARMY

Podgoritza, Montenegro, October 11. The Montenegrin troops followed up their success in capturing Detchitch mountain from the Turks by taking, late last evening, the Turkish fort which dominates the town of Tushi.

The Turks offered stubborn resistance, but the Montenegrins succeeded in reaching the position after several furious assaults that the Turks repulsed.

Both forces suffered heavy losses in killed and wounded. The firing continued over fourteen hours.

The road to the Turkish town of Tushi from the north is now open to the advance of the Montenegrin army.

Constantinople, October 11.—Fighting between the Turkish and Montenegrin troops was still in progress this morning in the region of Tushi, north of Scutari. No further details have reached here.

FORCE OF TURKISH ARMY IS INCREASED TO 400,000

Constantinople, October 11.—By Wireless From a Steamer in the Dardanelles to Kustendje, Roumania.—No fewer than 140,000 Turkish troops from Asia Minor will be concentrated within a week in European Turkey. This will bring the effective force of the Turkish army up to 400,000 men there.

Turkish officials say that the day of trial has found the military depots full of stores and the army equipment complete and of good quality.

If the Bulgarians are counting on the superiority of their organization and the greater rapidity with which their army can be mobilized to give them a material advantage, they will, according to Turkish officers, receive a disagreeable surprise.

The Ottoman authorities for months past have been gradually strengthening their defenses and concentrating troops in the important zone comprising Adrianople and Kirk Kilisseh, just south of the Bulgarian frontier.

Since the general mobilization was ordered a great stream of men has been pouring into the district, at the rate latterly of 20,000 daily.

War to the Knife.

The Redifs, or men of the second reserve, now being brought from Asia Minor, are determined once and for all that the Bulgar, whose persistent intrigues in Macedonia have, the Redifs say, caused them to be constantly called from their homes, is to receive a sound lesson. It is to be war to the knife, the men say. They have decided to take no prisoners and to give no quarter.

The Turkish officers recognize the splendid qualities of the men in the ranks of the Bulgarian army and also of their junior officers, but they have a less favorable opinion of the commanding officers.

The Montenegrin efforts in Albania are not taking very seriously here, but the existence of the Greek fleet inspires some misgivings.

The Albanians in the north are expected by the Turkish authorities to keep Montenegrins busy. Emissaries have been dispatched to the tribes there, and the Albanians have responded that they will fight for the Turks.

Deserters in Army.

The reliability of the Christians serving in the ranks of the Turkish army is one of the great problems of the movement for the Ottoman commanders. The Armenians are expected to behave loyally, but it is said that it would show ignorance of human nature to expect Greeks to fight against Greeks, or Bulgarians against Bulgarians, and there are many of these nationalities in Turkey.

The feeling among the native Christians may be guaged to a certain extent by their efforts to escape from service by the payment of a tax or by bolting abroad. The Ottoman government is considering the putting in operation of the bill passed under the late regime calling on all Christians between the ages of 30 and 40. This action would swell the government receipts enormously, as most of the native Christians are in settled positions and well able to pay.

SHERIFFS IN BATTLE WITH GREEK MINERS

Bingham, Utah, October 11.—An attack on a Greek hillside settlement by fifty deputy sheriffs, which resulted in bloodshed and several minor disturbances today, broke the truce that has prevailed among those involved in the copper mine strike.

Tonight excitement reached a high pitch. Streets were crowded and threats of vengeance were made by strikers.

Shortly after a steam shovel began operation at the Utah Copper company's pit this morning Greek strikers congregated at their settlement, which faces the excavation. Deputies closed in on them from all directions. A partly completed trench, which the deputies declare was intended for breastworks, was discovered. While some of the officers dispersed the crowd others searched the houses. A number of weapons were seized. One Greek was felled by a blow over the head with a rifle, which laid open his scalp. Another was shot, and may die.

CAT'S-EYE RING TO TRAP BANDITS

Gift to Girl May Cause Arrest of Men Who Looted Bank of $272,000.

Chicago, October 11.—A cat's-eye ring, the setting composed of jewels of great value, which was worn by the sweetheart of "Big Charlie" Fitzgerald, said to be the head of the gang of safe blowers who looted the bank of Montreal, new Westminster, B. C., of $272,000, is expected by the police to lead to the arrest of members of the gang who openly attempted to change the bills in this city.

By means of the ring, which was found at a pawnbroker's shop, detectives have traced the movements of Fitzgerald and the woman after the fight in a Chicago saloon, when "Big Charlie" and his friends beat into insensibility Police Lieutenant Burns, who was attempting to arrest them.

The ring was pawned, according to detectives, to get money for Fitzgerald to make his escape. After the attack on the officer, it later was redeemed.

September 11, not many hours after-Burns had been beaten by Fitzgerald and "Doc" Danzell, now in custody, Fitzgerald's sweetheart, known as "Billie" or "Blondie," ran into the pawnshop holding out the ring, according to information the police say they have.

"Give me what you can on this," she is said to have cried. "I've got to get out of the city right away."

The pawnbroker shoved her $170 and she rushed out. The police are convinced she carried the money to "Big Charlie" to make his escape.

Several days later she came back to the shop, her silver handbag bulging with bills of large denomination, and redeemed the ring. The police say she has left Chicago, but they know where she is and expect to arrest her in a few days.

Don't Work for Your Relatives for Nothing.

In an article in the current issue of Farm and Fireside, entitled "The Only Safe Way," the writer says:

"A maiden sister had lived for thirty years with a married brother who had a delicate wife, bearing the brunt of the work and the rearing of the children, receiving in all that time her board and clothes and a little money for her trifling wants. Then the brother died, and after a short time the sister-in-law married, leaving the nurse-housekeeper-seamstress-burden-bearer-in-general of the family homeless.

"Every unmarried woman living without wages in a relative's home this minute should, without delay, remedy her condition. If the relative needs your services, a fair wage should be paid. Before it is too late, put your life on a commercial basis, and begin earning money. It doesn't take a great deal to make a woman independent, provided she begins before age disqualifies her. Good housekeepers, good women for sewing, for taking care of children, for helping in the minor complaints of the household and for a thousand and one other things are always needed. A young woman who was first called here and then there to help out in the families of brothers and sisters, came to her senses one day, and refused to go without pay. Of course, they were angry, but she set to work to find steady employment as a housekeeper, and is now comfortable, independent and happy. So, my dear ladies, who see the gray hairs creeping near the temples, and who have not a penny to your names, listen to these words of wisdom. Do not allow false pride, nor a false sense of duty, nor any other thing, except the care of an old father or mother, keep you helpless or in want."

fore the committee of the senate, he said there ought to be an industrial commission, before whom gentlemen desiring to combine should lay their plans, and that if they were accepted that should exempt them from the operations of the clause of the Sherman act forbidding combinations in restraint of trade. In other words, he wants a commission which will permit, under regulations, the process of combinations and monopoly, and therefore I take it for granted that that is what is in the third party's thought and in its program, because I am interested not in where Mr. Roosevelt's money comes from, but where his ideas come from, and I see multiplying signs that his ideas come from those who have set up monopoly and who naturally wish to maintain it. I am no more in favor of a gentlemanly monopoly than one that is rude and impolite."

Ideas on Regulation.

"You will say, 'Will you set up competition by statute?' I am not as innocent as I look," said the nominee. "I am not maintaining that you can command men to compete, but I do say that you can remove the now insuperable impediments to competition, that men are allowed to compete in any way they choose, which ought not to be. No body of men who control 75 per cent of the iron mines of the country ought to be allowed to discriminate in the prices at which they sell their iron as between those who are in the combine and those who are not; because we cannot allow the raw materials and mineral resources of this country to be monopolized and privately controlled. No combination of men ought to discriminate between dealers. I have therefore promised myself to do everything in my power, whether elected to office or not, to expose the monopoly of enterprises in the United States."

Political Monopoly.

The governor added that "the monopoly of enterprise" meant "the monopoly of political power."

"The republican theory of government—I challenge you to disprove it," continued the nominee, "is a theory of government through a board of trustees, through a selected number of big business men of the country who know a lot that you do not know and who take it for granted that your ignorance would wreck the prosperity of the United States, and the ambition of Mr. Taft and Mr. Roosevelt is to be elected president of the board of trustees. I have been president of the board of trustees and do not care to have another on my hands. I want to be president of the people of the United States. There was many a time when I was president of the board of trustees of a university when the undergraduates knew more than the trustees did; and it has been a symbol in my thought ever since that if I could have handled the people who constituted Princeton university I could have carried it forward much faster than I could under a majority of the board of trustees."

In his speech at Orrville the governor referred to the late Mark Hanna as the man who stood for "the concentration of economic control" at the same time that he stood for "the concentration of political control of the United States."

The governor said Senator Aldrich was "Mr. Hanna's successor in exercising this kind of control." Governor Wilson was given a great ovation when introduced by Mayor Newton D. Baker, of Cleveland. The Central armory was packed to the doors.

A Sunday school teacher was reviewing her young class on Bible verses they had recently learned. She recited, "Let us love one another," and then asked if any pupil knew another verse about love. A 4-year-old made frantic signs for recognition, and when he was called upon replied, "I love my wife, but oh, you tid."

MISCELLANEOUS.

KIMBALLVILLE

The Show Place.

ATLANTA, GA.

"JERSEYS"

As a giver of rich milk the Jersey stands preeminent. Real Jersey milk commands a price anywhere from 5 to 3 cents more per gallon than any other kind. It is considered worth that much more.

In picking out a cow for your home use, you should consider the Jersey.

Kimballville, as you know, is noted for its blooded Jerseys, but in a herd of this kind there are always good cows and better cows. In other words, there are show animals, and utility animals. There are many cows that give just as much and as rich milk as some of the others, but are lacking in show points.

Such a cow as this would do nicely for family use. If you are looking for a good cow, that will give you plenty of good milk and rich cream, write us for quotations on our milch cows.

Better still, come out and see our herd. Visitors always welcome.

TWO-STORY NORTH SIDE BUNGALOW.

FOR PROMPT SALE the owner of one of the most attractive 8-room, north side bungalows authorizes us to cut the price to the above figure, which means $1,000 reduction. Now see the description: Large picturesque living room, 18x22, with artistic mantel, very cozy parlor; especially attractive dining room, with color schemes; four bedrooms, plenty closets, large dressing room, long panel, French plate mirror in one closet door. Hardwood floors downstairs; furnace heat, servant's room, garage, artistic front with stone columns, tiled floor on front porch; storage room in basement for vegetables, canned fruits and other articles, with cement floor. Size of lot, 75x200; east front. Fine, large oak trees in back yard. This is positively one of the most attractive homes to be found on the north side for the price, and if you are interested in buying a home it certainly will be to your advantage to confer with us about this property. Terms, $2,000 cash, balance to suit purchaser. Location, near Piedmont Driving Club. All details furnished by inquiry over phone or in person.

E. RIVERS REALTY CO.

M. L. PETTY & E. L. HARLING,

REAL ESTATE. 32 EAST ALABAMA STREET.

ON EUCLID AVENUE we have one of the most complete and up-to-date, 10-room, two-story houses in the city, that we are offering for a quick sale for $7,500; 1,000 cash, $50 a month, will buy it. This house has oak floors and furnace heat and every other modern convenience.

AT EAST POINT we have a new, 5-room cottage on a nice 20-acre tract of ground, that we will sell for $4,500. $2,500 cash and the balance in 1, 2, 3 and 4 years. This piece of ground is worth $300 an acre. Take it up with us at once.

IN THE DRUID HILLS SECTION we have two vacant lots that we are offering for $1,000 each. Will sell you one or both on easy terms. These are $1,500 lots and at this price should sell at once.

NEAR THE ENTRANCE TO GRANT PARK, on Augusta avenue, we offer a modern, 6-room cottage, for $3,000; easy terms can be had. It's one of the best small home propositions in any part of the city, and at the above price it should sell at once.

NORTH SIDE HOME

JUST OFF OF PEACHTREE STREET, in the best residential section of Atlanta, we offer an elegant ten-room house, on a large lot, at the exceptionally low price of $12,500, on very easy terms. This place was built by the present owner for a home, and only the best of material and labor used. House has every possible convenience, including laundry equipment. Has living room, dining room, music room, reception hall, kitchen and lavatory on first floor; four large and airy bedrooms, bath and magnificent sleeping porch on second floor, and also has good size sewing room on the same floor. Third floor has been finished in one large room, which is particularly adapted for either a billiard room or nursery. Two servant rooms and laundry in basement. Every possible attention has been paid to the details in this home, and it is complete in every respect. Has vapor heating plant. Has private driveway, with first-class double garage, cement floor, repair pits, electric lights, Bowser underground tanks and latest equipment throughout. Above the garage are two large servant rooms. We will be glad to show prospective purchasers, but this place can be shown only by appointment.

SECOND FLOOR EMPIRE BUILDING.

EDGEWOOD AVENUE—At the intersection of Edgewood avenue and Piedmont, we offer for sale lot 50x150 at a price a good deal cheaper than the neighboring property can be bought. It actually faces on Piedmont and Edgewood, but can be bought at Piedmont prices. The price is $375 per foot. Hurry before some one gets this.

PEACHTREE CIRCLE—This is one of the most beautiful, up-to-date modern houses in this exclusive neighborhood. Every convenience, including furnace, laundry, sleeping-porch, big front and backyard, servants' quarters, garage, etc. It has been placed with us at a price around $13,000, and in our opinion it won't be on the market at this unusually low price but a day or so.

DRUID HILLS—A corner lot 155x300, on the most important street aside from Ponce de Leon. It is in an exclusive section with houses all around it. The owner wants to leave the city and instructed us to let it go at $60 per foot. All around it is selling for $70 to $90. Good easy terms.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES, DAY BY DAY

ALL THE NEWS OF REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING

Real estate sales yesterday showed no disposals of large or central property and on the surface appeared rather quiet. However, numerous sales of residence lots and homes were reported by agents, showing an increase in the fall business.

Interest in building now settles in the Ponce de Leon apartment house, which is being erected at Ponce de Leon avenue and Peachtree street, opposite the Georgian Terrace hotel, and on the apartments which the Winship Realty company is going to erect at the northwest corner of Peachtree and Third street.

The company is yet figuring on the plans drawn by Architect W. L. Stoddard, and the specifications call for an outlay of $750,000. The building will be ten stories high and of steel structure. It will front 200 feet on both streets.

Several large sales are being consummated, according to real estate agents, and will be announced by the end of the week.

Forrest & George Adair have sold for Dr. S. A. Bookhamer to John M. Pharr No. 21 Elbert street, in the Atlanta Real Estate company's Stewart avenue subdivision. This is a six-room house on a lot 50x200. The price was $3,600.

Petty & Harling have sold for W. Troutwine and D. W. Yarborough to W. G. McNair a lot 50x200 on Elbert street near Mayland avenue, for $1,100.

Petty & Harling have sold for Mrs. Irene W. Cameron to Paul S. Etheridge No. 367 Glenn street, an eight-room, two-story house, on a lot 50x100, for $4,000.

WEST PEACHTREE HOME

ON A BEAUTIFULLY SHADED, east-front lot, in the best section of West Peachtree street, we have one of the most attractive homes in the city, at a price which we consider very reasonable. Furnace-heated, hardwood floors, beautiful fixtures, the very best of mantels, and has, in fact, every convenience usually found in a well-appointed home. Has four large bedrooms, two baths and sleeping porch on second floor. Living room, dining room, reception hall, den, kitchen and lavatory on first floor. Good garage and servant room on premises.

Walls are tastily decorated throughout, those of the lower floor being papered, and of the upper floor tinted. This place is one that should appeal to persons of refinement, both as to location and arrangement. We will be very glad to show this property to anyone really interested, but unless you are prepared to pay at least $3,000 cash, please do not ask us to inconvenience the property owner unnecessarily, as he positively will not accept any smaller cash payment. Price $15,000. No loan to assume, and 6 per cent interest on deferred payments, which may be arranged to suit purchaser.

HESTER'S WEEKLY COTTON STATEMENT

New Orleans, October 11.—Secretary Hester's weekly New Orleans cotton exchange statement issued before the close of business today shows a decrease in the movement into sight, compared with the seven days ending this date last year in round figures, 12,000, an increase over the same days year before last of 65,000 and a decrease under the same time in 1909 of 32,000.

For the eleven days of October the totals show an increase over last year of 3,000, an increase over the same period year before last of 142,000, and an increase over the same time in 1909 of 29,000.

For the forty-one days of the season that have elapsed the aggregate is behind the forty-one days of last year 274,000, ahead of the same days year before last 394,000, and ahead of 1909 by 105,000.

The amount brought into sight during the past week has been 564,999 bales, against 577,071 for the seven days ending this date last year, 469,876 year before last and 506,847 same time in 1910, and for the eleven days of October it has been 953,000, against 930,880 last year, 791,822 year before last and 905,008 same time in 1910.

The movement since September 1st shows receipts at all United States ports 1,821,013, against 1,927,865 last year, 1,591,078 year before last and 1,659,872 same time in 1910. Overland across the Mississippi, Ohio and Potomac rivers to northern mills and Canada 29,134, against 85,164 last year, 29,905 year before last and 25,223 same time in 1910; interior stocks in excess of those held at the close of the commercial year 224,805, against 207,761 last year, 189,592 year before last and 300,311 same time in 1910; southern mills' takings 283,000, against 241,573 last year, 254,052 year before last and 297,402 same time in 1909.

These make the total movement for the forty-one days of the season from September 1st to date 2,359,012, against 2,582,305 last year, 1,994,597 year before last and 2,258,858 same time in 1910.

Northern mills' takings and Canada during the past seven days, shows a decrease of 29,269, as compared with the corresponding period last year, and their total takings since September 1st have decreased 54,029. The total takings of American mills, north, south and Canada, thus far for the season have been 642,339, against 462,311 last year. These include 142,210 by northern spinners, against 196,230.

Stocks at the seaboard and the twenty-nine leading interior centers have increased during the week 280,631 bales, against an increase during the corresponding period last season of 206,000 and are now 100,617 less than at this date in 1911.

Including stocks left over at ports and interior towns from the last crop and the number of bales brought into sight thus far from the new crop, the supply to date is more than 2,723,725, against 2,819,337 for the same period last year.

HESTER'S WORLD'S VISIBLE SUPPLY.

New Orleans, October 11.—Secretary Hester's statement of the world's visible supply of cotton made up from special cable and telegraphic advices compares the figures of this week with last week, last year and the year before. It shows an increase for the week just closed of 374,089, against an increase of 277,518 last year and an increase of 238,644 year before last.

The total visible is 3,387,147, against 3,013,058 last week, 2,763,079 last year and 2,386,586 year before last. Of this the total of American cotton is 2,586,147, against 2,236,058 last week, 2,226,079 last year and 1,844,586 year before last, and of all other kinds, including Egypt, Brazil, India, etc., 791,000, against 777,000 last week, 537,000 last year and 542,000 year before last.

The total world's visible supply of cotton, as pointed above, shows an increase compared with last week but of 374,089, an increase compared with last year ton by 624,068, and an increase compared with year The figure last of 1,000,702.

Of the world's visible supply of cotton, as above, there is now afloat and held in Great Britain and continental Europe 1,127,000, against 1,383,000 last year and 1,268,000 year before last; in Egypt 110,000, against 54,000 last year and 82,000 year before last; in India, 398,000, against 273,000 last year and 232,000 year before last, and in the United States 1,752,000, against 3,052,000 last year and 804,000 year before last.

SPINNERS' TAKINGS.

New Orleans, October 11.—Secretary Hester gives the taking of American cotton by spinners throughout the world as follows, in round numbers:

This week (B) 269,000 this year, against 292,000 last year and 250,000 year before last.

Total since September 1st, this year (A) 1,115,000, against 1,131,000 last year, and 935,000 the year before.

Of this northern spinners and Canada took 142,000 bales this year, against 196,000 last year, and 210,000 the year before; southern spinners, (B) 269,000, against 269,000 last year, and 241,000 the year before, and foreign spinners, 673,000, against 671,000 last year and 504,000 the year before.

(A) Includes Galveston, plus correction 9,000, Aransas Pass, minus 5,000 both since September 1, making net plus 4,000.

(B) Not including plus correction of 4,000.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, October 11.—Until late into the afternoon the market showed strength under the influence of predicted bad weather and frost west of the Mississippi river. Then large selling orders simultaneously appeared in the hands of different brokers and in competitive selling prices declined some 10 to 12 points in a few minutes. Possibly the fear of an outbreak of war in Europe caused this selling, as the Paris bourse was very weak and many international stocks were sold heavily in New York. The decline this afternoon increasing the bearish feeling, which is so outspoken in the trade, but should the weather predictions be borne out a sudden reverse of opinion would occur.

Liverpool is due to come about 7 points lower in the morning.

COTTON THE PAST WEEK; REVIEW OF THE MARKET

New York, October 11.—Prices have been sagging under the influence of fine weather, big receipts in Texas, favorable crop reports, war news from Europe and heavy selling. Big spot houses tried to stem the tide, but met with little success. For many weeks they were acting on the selling side, but recently they came to the conclusion that the decline had gone far enough and they bought on a big scale. But the receipts have continued very heavy and the consensus of opinion here has been bearish.

The tendency has been to increase crop estimates to something like 14,700,000 to 15,000,000 bales. At the same time, the idea has been quite prevalent that the world's consumption of American cotton is not likely to be as large as that of last year, which whatever Ellison may say to the contrary, American statisticians believed reached fully 14,500,000 bales. This year, however, the crops of India and Egypt are considered large and the belief of some is that Europe will use more Egyptian and India cotton than it did last year and less of American. Moreover, the warlike situation in southeastern Europe has been a source of disquietude to not a few.

In cotton war is usually considered a bearish factor. Not a few cotton people are fearful that the outbreak of war between Montenegro and Turkey may be followed by the declaration of war by Balkan states and that some of the larger powers of Europe may be drawn into the quarrel. This, together with fine weather at the south, enormous receipts at Texas points, an increasing movement east of the Mississippi and general selling, has certainly militated seriously against any great recovery of prices. Spinners, it is true, have bought more freely and Liverpool straddlers, who made the straddle at 100 points difference or less between Liverpool and New York, have latterly been buying heavily at 123 to 127 points difference, thereby reaping handsome profits. Some of the big spot houses have been undoing these straddles.

At times Memphis, Wall street and other operators have bought here partly to cover shorts on the eve of the holiday on Saturday. There is also a belief in some quarters that the crop is being overestimated, and the consumption underestimated. They think that the crop is not over 13,500,000 to 14,000,000 bales and that another big world's consumption of American cotton is practically certain, as the world is in a better condition to buy cotton this season, with a spread of business prosperity on both sides of the Atlantic, than it was last season when, in spite of all drawbacks, the crop of over 16,200,000 bales was handled with an ease that amazed the cotton world. Also the crop is two to three weeks late in the eastern section of the belt and killing frost in the next fortnight in that section would do serious damage. Then, too, the short interest is large and there is a tendency to overdo the bear account.

The consensus here is bearish, however. The idea is that only temporary rallies need be expected unless killing frost comes early. Of late, however, there have been rallies due to a fear of frost over Saturday and Sunday. Prices collapsed again on Friday afternoon, however.

Loans, $399,076,100; decrease, $340,800.

Specie, $44,045,500; decrease, $85,500.

Legal tenders, $8,277,900; increase, $42,300.

Total deposits, $451,650,500; decrease, $5,683,700.

New York, October 11.—The Financier will say:

"The New York clearing house banks made an exceptionally favorable statement at the close of business on Friday. The returns were rendered yesterday, owing to the Columbus day, October 12 being a legal holiday. The feature of the statement, according to the figures of actual conditions, was a reduction of $13,009,000 in deposits which accompanied a contraction of only $8,784,000 in loans. This reduction of over four millions in reserve requirements, together with an unexpected cash gain of $3,731,000, operated to bring about an increase in the excess reserve of $6,424,150, that item rising to $10,585,450. The loan-shifting process whereby this was accomplished did not appear so much on the average statement, which varied considerably from the actual. According to the average figures, loans decreased $10,380,000, cash $1,596,000 and deposits, $14,400,000, resulting in a decrease of $115,200,000 in excess reserve, which stands at $4,065,000. Once more the trust companies report a deficit, amounting to $1,142,900, which brings down the aggregate reserve to the figure named. The statement of the trust companies made to the state banking department reveals a heavy deposit loss of $24,245,000, a drop of $6,836,800 in loans and of $2,925,800 in cash."

Groceries.

Chicago, October 11.—Flour steady.

St. Louis, October 11.—Flour firm. Hay firm, timothy, $13@18.50; prairie, $12@16.

New York, October 11.—Flour firmly held.

Cincinnati, October 11.—Flour quiet.

WEEK'S TRADE REVIEW.

What Commercial Agencies Say About Business.

New York, October 11.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly Review of Trade tomorrow says that, in every section and in every branch of trade activity in production and distribution now prevails. It is notable that in the principal trades, and especially in iron and steel, actual buoyancy appears and the demand is so keen that it tests the capacity of the product and transporting facilities. Shortage of cars and labor, and in some cases even shortage of plant capacity are now the most embarrassing problems confronting business men and besides these difficulties the controversies and issues which not long ago seemed so ominous, are now viewed with diminishing concern. Even the outbreak of war in Europe creates no uneasiness on this side of the water. In iron and steel the record continues that of a demand for prompt delivery outrunning the capacity of the mills. The railroads are buying heavily, for their transportation facilities must be expanded in order that they may be able to move the unprecedented crops and carry the traffic of a thoroughly awakened domestic commerce.

Conditions in the dry goods trade, both present and prospective, are satisfactory. A good fall business is reported in primary and secondary channels. Sales for export are increasing in the cotton goods division, shipments of domestics from New York aggregating 327,386 bales this year, compared with 275,015 bales in the same period of 1911.

There are still many complaints in common with other trades concerning slow deliveries, due to transportation congestion and to a shortage of labor. Values are well maintained. Woolen and worsted business continues exceptionally good, nearly all the large mills having business booked into next year in substantial volume. The silk trade is expanding. Yarns are steady with values tending higher. The fall retail trade has been decidedly active in the past two weeks.

Trade in footwear is expanding. New England manufacturers are generally well employed and those in other sections are more actively engaged than heretofore. The volume of supplementary fall business is exceptionally heavy and spring orders are more numerous. All varieties of leather continue firm and active. The hide markets are again more active, especially packer variety and sales of these aggregate fully 100,000 for a week.

Liverpool Cotton.

Liverpool, October 11.—Spot cotton in good demand; four points advance; middling, 6.30; sales, 12,000 bales, including 7,800 American; imports, 18,000, all American. Futures opened steady and closed steady.

Trustee's Sale. Wholesale Grocery Business at Athens, Georgia.

By virtue of an order of Hon. Frank L. Upson, referee in bankruptcy, the undersigned, as trustee of Webb & Crawford Company, bankrupt, will received sealed bids up to 12 o'clock a. m., Saturday, October 19, 1912, for all of the property of said bankrupt, consisting of a stock of groceries, notes and accounts, office furniture and storehouse, located on tracks of Central of Georgia Railway Company, at Athens, Ga. Bids must be made separately for the stock of goods and office furniture, which has been appraised at $30,984.15; for the notes and accounts, appraised at $31,241.82, and storehouse, appraised at $18,000. As the business is now being operated by the trustee, the amount of stock will fluctuate to some extent, and bids must be made for same upon a percentage basis on the cost price of the old stock on hand as fixed by the appraisers, and in the same manner for goods purchased by the receiver since taking charge of the business, as shown by invoices for same. The purchaser will be expected to pay cost and freight for goods in transit and assume outstanding bookings. As notes and accounts are being collected, a revised list of same can be obtained one hour before bidding closes, on October 19, by application to the trustee. A portion of the storehouse is located on premises leased from Central of Georgia railway. Lease will be transferred to purchaser of the real estate.

This is an established business, with organization and traveling force intact, and now being conducted as a going concern. Railroad facilities unexcelled and valuable trademarks and goods will be transferred to purchaser.

An opportunity to acquire one of the best wholesale businesses located in the best wholesale grocery point in the state.

Terms of sale cash, and the right is reserved to reject any and all bids.

To the People of Atlanta:

The Chambers Campaign Committee has refrained from a mud-slinging contest.

There have been so many truths we could have told—there have been so many records and incidents we could have exposed—there have been so many unpleasant things, so many real unfortunate happenings in the private and official life of the opponent of Mr. Chambers that to have simply recorded them for the information of the voters would have raised the usual howl of "mud-slinging" from his supporters.

We believed the citizens of this City had been given a sufficient dose of these offensive and nauseous records in years gone by.

Pursuing this course, we had a right to expect that the men shooting from ambush—the men hiding behind Candidate Woodward—the men whom nobody knows and to whom, for that reason, no responsibility can be attached—the Woodward Campaign Committee—we say we had reason to believe that no vilification, no serious misrepresentation, no deliberate attempts to deceive—in short, no "mud-slinging"—would be resorted to by them.

We believed this, because, as we said in the beginning, there were so many truths we could again call Atlanta's attention to.

But have you observed their vicious, malicious, deliberate attempts to muddy the campaign by vituperation? Have you observed how, by falsifying, by misrepresentation, they have tried, in their desperate straits, to overcome the defeat which is staring them in the face?

For instance, have you noticed some pictures used in their misleading advertisements—pictures of a mule and wagon apparently mired up in a muddy street? Of course, there are muddy streets in Atlanta. There always will be some.

But, will you read the affidavit herewith submitted in which the sworn statement is made that the picture was a posed picture for the deliberate purpose of misleading the voters of this city? That two boys were paid for their time and services to go out to this street—the muddiest one they could find after a rain—and, with a poor old mule, made to look like he was pulling for dear life, when, as a matter of fact, he was being held in check by the driver—they sought to make it appear that this was an everyday occurrence, and that MR. CHAMBERS WAS TO BLAME FOR THIS CONDITION.

How ridiculous, and how manifestly unfair!

For several days the Woodward Campaign Committee has tried to make it appear that Mr. Chambers had classed as a "Common Blackguard" every man who voted for Mr. Woodward. Mr. Chambers made no such statement. Read for yourself what he said. Mr. Chambers has said repeatedly that he knew many misguided but good men—men who had only the interest of Atlanta at heart—had been misled into voting for Mr. Woodward.

Mr. Chambers did say that Mr. Woodward was a common blackguard. For this, his Campaign Committee have no apology to make. Without being charged as "mud-slingers," but simply to prove to those that might not personally know the man, we quote a few lines from one of Mr. Woodward's last appealing, misrepresenting statements—at least a statement prepared by his mysterious, unknown committee. It says:

"Mr. Woodward has the utmost reverence for God, the Church, and things religious."

Only two days ago he boldly walked up to five good citizens on Broad street, and, in a voice loud enough to be heard fifty feet away, denounced the workers and those interested in the Men and Religion Forward Movement in this City, in language so vile, so obscene, so profane, so contemptible and disgusting that it sickened those who heard him.

It was not an expression containing simply a damn or an oath or two, which is characteristic of some "cussin'" men, but the language was as foul as ever came from mortal lips—so obscene that, of course, it cannot be printed nor repeated without bringing the blush of shame to the man repeating it.

We had cherished the hope that his statement regarding his "reverence" was true, but we fail to reconcile his two statements—one printed, the other spoken.

We can produce affidavits from those to whom this language was used. They are such men as Nym. McCullough, Frank Bell, Howard Pattillo, John McCullough and A. Wasser—men, however biased, you know well enough to know they would tell only the truth.

These are some of the things we have had to combat. This is the style of campaign this mysterious Woodward Campaign Committee is conducting.

But the people have their eyes and ears open. They have rallied to the battle cry, "CHAMBERS AND ATLANTA!"

Again the committee desires to return thanks to the hundreds and hundreds of volunteers who have so cheerfully come forward and tendered their services in this campaign. We will not soon forget you and your interest and your good work will be remembered by Atlanta for all years to come.

J. R. SMITH,
Chairman Chambers Campaign Committee.

The Following Affidavit Speaks for Itself:

GEORGIA, Fulton County:

Personally appeared before the undersigned, L. L. McGahee, who, being duly sworn, deposes and says that he is a retail grocer, at 347 Peters Street, and the photograph published in The Atlanta Georgian over the signature of the Woodward Campaign Committee, showing a mule and wagon, apparently stalled, is misleading and untrue. The mule and wagon belonged to me, and my son is seen in the wagon. The negro holding the mule is my driver. The negro driver stated he was paid to pose for this picture, and for driving into this hole to have the photograph taken, according to his own statement the place being specially selected for the posing of this picture. I am informed by my driver that they were not stalled, nor did they experience any difficulty in going out of this bad place, which was caused by a terrific rain.

I make this statement for the purpose of being perfectly fair in this campaign.

L. L. M'GAHEE.

Sworn to and subscribed before me, this 11th day of October, 1912.

GEO. G. FARRAR,
Notary Public, Fulton County, Ga.

LATEST REPORTS FROM ALL THE MARKETS

COTTON DROPPED 12 TO 19 POINTS

Sharp Break Followed Early Advance on Southern Selling.

New York, October 11.—An early advance on frost predictions and 'covering for over the holiday was followed by a sharp break in today's cotton market, and the close was weak at a net decline of from 12 to 19 points.

The market opened steady at a decline of 1 to 3 points, in sympathy with slightly lower cables than expected, but almost immediately rallied on renewed covering for over the two-day adjournment and on the western belt forecast for frost in parts of Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas. Prices sold some 5 to 6 points above the closing figures of last night on this bulge, making a rally of some 25 to 30 points from the low level of yesterday morning.

The frost predictions, however, did not appear to be bringing much fresh buying for long account, and after the close of Liverpool the demand here became active. Scattered southern selling and realizing by some of yesterday's early buyers, consequently checked the advance and the market during the afternoon became very weak under more or less general liquidation, which was promoted by a bearish view of the week-end figures and unfavorable European political advices.

December contracts broke to within 2 points of Thursday's low record, while January sold off to within 5 points of the previous low record and closed within a point or two of the bottom.

The local market will be closed tomorrow, while Liverpool and New Orleans will remain open for business as usual, and local traders attributed much of today's late liquidation to recent buyers from a reaction, who, they said, had been disappointed that preholiday covering did not develop on a heavier scale.

Spinners' takings for the week were estimated at 209,000 bales, against 292,000 last year.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, October 11.—Cotton, spot unchanged; middling, 10¾.

Cotton futures opened steady, unchanged to 3 points up. Cables were not up to expectations, but exporters reported large acceptance of cotton by cables overnight, which stimulated buying. The weather map was extremely favorable as no rain was reported over the cotton region and summer temperatures prevailed. Buying was sufficient to offset this and at the end of the first half hour of business prices were 5 to 6 points up.

Weakness of foreign securities and disquieting cables concerning the Balkan troubles caused selling, although shorts were held down somewhat by the forecast of rains in the eastern belt and frost news. At noon prices were 3 to 4 points under yesterday's close.

In the afternoon the market was easy. At 2 o'clock prices were 12 to 13 points under yesterday's close.

Cotton futures closed weak at a net decline of 13 to 16 points.

Dry Goods.

New York, October 11.—The dry goods market was steady but quiet for the day. Jobbers did a satisfactory repeat order business and are getting a better class of advance orders trade on fine fabrics for spring. Foreign woods were firm.

John F. Black & Co.

New York, October 11.—After showing a good tone during the early trading, the market turned very soft this afternoon and closed weak at a net decline of 13 to 19 points. At no time this season has it been a weaker market than at the close today. Wall street did some buying during the morning and there are some big long lines out in the street. This does not increase the strength of the market. The weekly figures were very bearish and were of the causes of the break.

New York will be closed tomorrow, but Liverpool and New Orleans will be open.

Liverpool is due to come 7 to 8½ points down.

Gibert & Clay.

New York, October 11.—Predictions of frost in the western belt and wet weather in the Atlantic states over the week-end advanced the market about six points early today, as shorts covered freely. Later on, however, rumors of financial unsettlement in Berlin led to heavy Wall street selling in the local market, under which prices declined twenty points from their highest, while spot houses aided the advance of the morning. There was no support from that source when offerings became aggressive.

WAR SCARE MADE GRAIN ADVANCE

Wheat Closed Five-Eighths to One Cent and Three-Eighths Up—Corn Higher.

Chicago, October 11.—Renewal of fear that the Turkish war might have a dangerous spread brought about a material advance today in wheat. Closing prices were nervous, ⅝ to 1¼ @⅞ net higher.

Corn scored a gain of ½@⅝ to 1c and oats a rise of ⅜ to ⅝. In provisions the outcome was an upturn of 10 to 35.

Wheat speculators took the break in British consols to be enough warning that Balkan hostilities might entangle some of the chief European countries. Bullish sentiment was increased by the fact that export business from this country was being done at better terms than could recently be obtained, and that a substantial share had fallen to Chicago houses with connections at Duluth. An all-round increase of investment buying had considerable effect toward advancing the price of wheat. The market felt the influence also of disturbed conditions in the security list. From start to finish no important reaction took place. December ranged from 92¾ to 93¾, with last sales 1¼ @1⅜ up at 93½@⅝.

Wet weather heightened the anxiety of shorts in corn, but wheat strength and European war uneasiness received greater attention. Leading firms absorbed all surplus offerings. December fluctuated between 53½ and 54, closing unsettled at 53⅞, an advance of ⅛@⅜ over last night. Cash grades were only in fair demand. No. 2 yellow 64¾65.

Active merchandising and export trade buoyed up the future market for oats. Upper and lower levels reached by December were 32⅞@33 and 32¾, with the close ⅝ net higher at 32⅝.

Provisions bulged because of the grain. The chief advance was for pork, 20 to 35c.

GEORGIA PIONEER DIES AT MACON

Dr. R. D. Mallary, Educator and Religious Worker, Dies at Age of 84.

Macon, Ga., October 11.—(Special.)—Dr. Rollin D. Mallary, 84 years old and one of the best-known figures in educational and religious work in Georgia, died tonight at 7 o'clock at the residence of his son, Frank L. Mallary, this city.

Death was due to natural decline. He was the oldest living graduate of Mercer university, founded and was the first president of Shorter Female college, of Rome, and named the college after his friend, Colonel Alfred Shorter, of Rome.

Born in Columbia, S. C., in 1828, he early removed to Georgia and for more than forty years was conspicuous in the building of the present educational system of the state.

Mr. Mallary was the oldest surviving member of his graduating class, known as the "immortal twelve," which graduated from Mercer university in 1851. Only one member of the class is now living. He is Dr. Albert T. Spalding, of Atlanta.

E. Y. Mallary, F. L. Mallary and E. P. Mallary, the three sons who survive him, are among the most prominent business men in this section of the state. One daughter, Mrs. J. J. Cobb, of Macon, survives him.

STRIKEBREAKERS QUIT THEIR JOBS

railroad strikebreakers had quit was learned from over a dozen of them direct, who declared late Friday night that they were actually going to leave town during the night or early Saturday morning, returning to their homes in Chicago and New York. The Cannon hotel, on South Pryor street, where sixty-five strikebreakers of the Georgia and the terminals had been housed for ten days, was empty and deserted by 8 o'clock Friday night and the proprietor stated that although the lease had not been ended by the Georgia road, the men had all left and would not return.

With the strikebreakers gone, the union would then call upon the Atlanta Joint Terminals to reinstate the forty-six employees who struck last Tuesday out of sympathy for the striking Georgia railroad employees.

Officials of the Atlanta Joint Terminals company stated Friday afternoon that they knew nothing of any impending strike of their strikebreakers. In the event it happened, they refused to state that the forty-six striking employees would be reinstated in a body.

Working a Full Force.

"That bridge will be crossed when we come to it," they said. "At present the Atlanta Joint Terminals is working a full force and we expect to continue."

One of the strikebreakers of the Atlanta Joint Terminals told this story of his situation:

"I was sent down here with eighteen other yard men by the Louisville and Nashville railroad. I had been working in Nashville. They said they wanted me to do regular work for the L. & N. in Atlanta.

"We came down last Thursday week and were immediately put to work, with about twenty-five others, handling cars for the Atlanta Joint Terminals. We soon found out the situation and were angry that we had been brought here as strikebreakers. Six of our eighteen men quit several days ago and went back to Nashville. Our twelve others are quitting tonight on the assurance of the union men that they will provide for us and find us permanent jobs. Many of the other strikebreakers of the terminals, who were brought from New York and Philadelphia, are quitting tonight also."

Up to Joint Terminals.

This puts the question squarely up to the officials of the Atlanta Joint Terminals, and those back of them, declare the union leaders. The strike can thus be settled without either side "backing down."

"If the terminal company refuses to take back all its forty-six men now," said one of the labor leaders, "it will strengthen the belief that many of us have held for a good while—that there is a higher power back of them, keeping them from taking the men back for the express purpose of prolonging the strike and trying to starve us out."

In spite of their announcement of the night before, the Georgia railroad did not send a train in either direction between Atlanta and Augusta on Friday.

Trains Did Not Leave.

Train No. 1 was made up Friday morning and the engineer and his engine were ready to haul it out. All morning the train stood ready to leave, but did not.

Trainmaster J. H. Chapman, whose word would have sent it off, said he was waiting for a telegram from General Manager T. K. Scott, in Augusta, ordering him to dispatch the train. The telegram never came. At 3:30 o'clock the engine was taken back to the shops and the announcement was made that the train would not run at all.

Passengers were told that no tickets were for sale, anyway. If the train had gone it would have carried mail only, without a single passenger except United States Deputy Marshal White, who would have been present to protect the mail car.

FIRST TRAIN OUT OF MACON ON GEORGIA ROAD

Macon, Ga., October 11.—For the first time since the present railway trainmen's strike was declared, the Georgia railroad operated a train from this city this morning. The train left the union depot at 9:18 o'clock unmolested. About 500 persons, mostly mechanics and railroad men, crowded the lower end of the shed when the train departed, but no attempt was made to stop the train or molest the crew.

The train left in charge of Conductor Laird and Engineer Lucius Evans. Mail Clerk Davis was in the mail car, and on the train was United States Deputy Marshal Dave Riley. There were no passengers. The train consisted of an engine, mail car and combination baggage and passenger coach. The mail car was well filled with mail matter for distribution at various points along the Georgia road between Macon and Augusta.

Situation Is Unchanged.

Sparta, Ga., October 11.—(Special.)—The general situation here as regards to the Georgia railroad strike remains unchanged. The first train of any kind to pass through Sparta since the strike was a mail train today from Macon to Camak. Merchants are still replenishing their stocks by hauling the goods from Milledgeville and Warthen. Others are operating teams and automobiles daily to and from these points.

WHITE SAYS HE DIDN'T ORDER TRAINS STOPPED

Macon, Ga., October 11.—(Special.) United States Marshal George F. White tonight denied the report that he had ordered the Georgia railroad not to operate any more trains. He said that his work was finished now that he had distributed copies of the restraining order along the route of the road, and it was for that purpose that he took a train from Augusta to Atlanta and sent his deputies to take one from Macon to Camak today.

Telegrams conveying information to the marshal that the order of the court is being violated were received tonight, but Marshal White says he will do nothing until after the arrival of Judge Grubb Monday, when he may be expected to cite certain persons for contempt.

ATTACK IS MADE ON CONDUCTOR

Engineer Is Also Assaulted at Camak While Firing Engine.

Augusta, Ga., October 11.—No. 27 passenger train, on the Georgia road, was brake-locked in the Harrisonville yards near here this afternoon and when the conductor attempted to release the brakes he was assailed with a shower of bricks.

A special engineer sent to Camak to do yard work there, while firing some of the engines this afternoon, was assaulted, according to information from the general offices of the road. Both attacks have been reported to United States Marshal George White, who has ordered that no more trains be operated until further instructions from him. It is known that Marshal White has wired the department of justice at Washington.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASSES SING FOF PRIZE BANNER

Music fairly bounded from the doors and windows of Taft hall last night when singing classes from six of the Baptist churches of Atlanta contested for a prize banner. The banner itself, conspicuous in its purple and golden trappings, was displayed upon the stage to spur the contesting clans on to greater heights of harmony.

Nobly did they strive to outdo each other. "Daughters of Zion," "Onward Christian Soldiers" and "Reapers" were surely never sung to such rhythm and harmony before. The stage was filled with men and ladies and children, as each class in turn sang its numbers.

Those competing were the Lakewood Heights class, Prof. P. S. Law, leader; Bonna Brae class, Prof. A. L. Danniel, leader; Rehobah class, Prof. J. A. Scott, leader; Ponders avenue class, Dr. J. M. Pierce, leader; Hapeville class, Prof. L. I. Williams, leader, and Happy Unity class, Prof. M. B. Stroud, leader.

The judges, Prof. W. W. Combs, of Locust Grove; Professor Claud Bottoms, of Jonesboro, and Prof. L. C. Higdon, of Marietta, will decide in secret session which class sang the best, and the purple and gold banner will be presented to the winner Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Ponders avenue Baptist church.

ANOTHER CO. SENT TO AUGUSTA

Governor Brown Prepares For Sympathetic Strike in That City.

Apprehending trouble if a sympathetic strike is called in Augusta, Governor Brown yesterday authorized Adjutant General Obear to send more troops to that city.

Major M. J. O'Leary, of Savannah, was ordered to Augusta to take charge of the situation, and M. C. Cohen, of Swainsboro, was directed to proceed at once to the scene with his company of the national guard.

General Obear was appealed to by citizens to return to Augusta. Telegrams signed by Judge W. F. Eve, Mayor Barrett, Thomas W. Loyless and other citizens were sent to him and to the governor, emphasizing the grave danger of the situation.

After a lengthy conference it was decided that General Obear would not go for the present, but may later. Martial law will be maintained in the city until the danger of an outbreak is considered safely over.

LIFE OF MRS. ADAMS SAVED BY HURRY CALL

A hurry call shortly after 12 o'clock this morning sent the Grady hospital ambulance to the Hinton hotel, at 24½ West Hunter street, where Mrs. Eva Adams was said to be dying as the result of drinking wood alcohol.

By using a stomach pump and strong emetics, the hospital surgeons soon revived the woman. She at first refused to have anything to say about her act, but later said that she had not drunk any wood alcohol.

After she appeared to be all right, the surgeons left, and half an hour later another call came for them, saying that the woman was having convulsions and in a serious condition.

Game Is Plentiful.

Cordele, Ga., October 11.—(Special.) The new game law has been rigidly enforced in Crisp county and game of all kind protected under the new law, especially quail, have multiplied remarkably.

Reports from adjoining counties and others in this immediate section are that the new law has been a most effective protection to the game and that there are more quail and other game than within a number of years.

MORTUARY

Mrs. B. F. Cawley, Cordele.

Cordele, Ga., October 11.—(Special.) The death of Mrs. B. F. Cawley occurred Thursday morning at 5 o'clock. She was a member of the First Baptist church and for years had been consistent in attendance. Funeral services were conduced from the Baptist church Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock, Rev. J. H. Coin, pastor, officiating. She was 65 years of age, and besides her husband she is survived by two sons, Charles Cawley, of this city, and Dave Cawley, of Jacksonville, and two daughters, Mrs. Dr. Turner, of Ashburn, and Mrs. Fred Doyle, of Tampa, Fla.

Dr. T. J. M. Kelley, Gibson.

Gibson, Ga., October 11.—(Special.)—Dr. T. J. M. Kelley, one of the oldest and best known physicians of the town, died Thursday morning at 5 o'clock, after having suffered from bad health and a partial stroke of paralysis, which seriously affected his speech for about two years.

Dr. Kelley was 57 years old, had practiced in Glascock and adjoining counties since he first began the practice when a young man. He was well known and had many friends over the state. He represented his county in the general assembly from 1900 to 1906 and made a splendid record.

He leaves one brother, three sisters, two daughters and four sons.

CHIROPRACTIC WONDERS TOLD BY DR. JOY LOBAN

On the wonders of chiropractics, Dr. Joy M. Loban lectured last night at the Carnegie library.

He explained the principles of the science, by which it is claimed that all diseases can be cured by a physician's manipulation of a patient's spinal chord.

"Every nerve in the body passes through the spinal chord," he said, "and by the proper pressure at the proper place the nerve forces can be made to flow normally. All cripples could be saved from life disfigurement if the principles of chiropractics could be applied immediately after their injury."

Dr. Loban ended by expressing the hope that "the queen city of the south will open her arms and embrace the king of cures."

East Lake Road

At the southwest corner of East Lake Road and Tupelo St. we have a lot 200x372 for $3,250.

It is a beautiful building site, just three blocks from entrance to Country Club. The lot runs away back into an oak grove; sewers and water can be obtained.

It would be the stroke of wisdom for someone to buy this for a home and have a house sitting back 100 feet off the road.

Special Notices

GOOD-BYE.

Dedicated to Mrs. Irma Foster Barnes

Good-bye! That word how oft'n we have repeated,
In idleness without a passing thought
As to its ancient sense and deeper, hidden meaning;
With tenderness and longing blessings fraught.

Good-bye! Tho far in distant land thy duty calls thee,
Tho far from friends, from home, and loving care;
Oh, may His arm preserve thee in all danger—
His mercy shield, His love protect thee there.

And tears that rise and will not be controlled,
And yet with joy and almost painful sweetness
Full ofttimes that little word is told.

One pressure of the hand, one look and she is gone—
A deathly blankness wraps our souls in darkness;
The light of day hath fled—we are ALONE.

From a devoted friend,
(adv.) MRS. R. L. KIRKPATRICK.
